Leaking Ship Makes Port Of Astoria After Race Against Savage Storms

PORTLAND, Ore., April 3.—Defying the heaving waves of the Pacific for more than three days, five coast guardsmen today piloted a 36-foot gasoline boat across Siulaw bar to safety.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 3.—Fears for three storm-battered ships were dissipated today when word was received that a lost windjammer had been located, a fire at sea controlled and that a sinking steamer had made port.

The J. Nettleton, a steam schooner, in distress off Cape Blanco, was a horror ship during the night, but early today the tanker Kewanee radioed here that fire aboard her had been controlled.

Another radiogram told of the Columbia lighthouse ship sighting the K. V. Kruse, a sailing vessel, lost since Saturday.

The same source brought word here that the Ernest B. Meyer, a steam schooner, had won a race against raging seas and had reached port at Astoria, Ore., at the mouth of the Columbia river.

Guardmen Safe Human ingenuity and seafaring ability today defeated the best efforts of a raging north Pacific storm to exact a toll of death when five men in an open boat rode safely over mountain high waves. Shortly before noon today five members of the Siulaw life saving crew were sighted off Siulaw bar, about four miles out. Their small 36-foot craft still was riding the ocean's crest and apparently all were well.

The five men crossed the Siulaw bar Saturday to aid the Helen B. Sterling, a sailing ship. The Sterling later was taken in tow, but rough seas prevented the small boat from recrossing the bar.

Details concerning the fire on the Nettleton were not known here. Word of the fire and later the

Recommend Early Action On Dam Bill

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, April 3.—The senate steering committee today recommended the following order of business after disposition of the McNary farm relief bill, which is under consideration: 1—Norbeck migratory bird bill. 2—Johnson Boulder dam bill. 3—Caraway bill to prevent speculation in cotton and grain. The Norbeck bill was side-tracked once before. If it suffers the same fate again the Boulder dam bill will be the next order of business. Tax reduction and appropriation bills will be given preference over any of these measures, however, and may delay action on the steering committee's recommendations.

CITY ORDINANCE IS ATTACKED IN 'CAPTIVE' TRIAL

First Victory in Case of Show Producers Goes To Prosecution

(By United Press) LOS ANGELES, April 3.—The prosecution won the first victory today in the trial of Ed Rowland and A. Leslie Pearce, producers of "The Captive," sex drama halted by police on the grounds of indecency.

Judge James H. Pope ruled in favor of the city attorneys when he refused to grant a motion made by Attorney J. W. Clark, of the defense, to try the cases of the producers and the cast at the same time.

The entire cast was in the courtroom, mingling with curious spectators who crowded in.

Attacks City Ordinance Clark then attacked the city ordinance under which the play was suspended as invalid. "The power to regulate does not include the power to prohibit," Clark said.

The opening of the trial was featured by argument between Judge Pope and Deputy City Attorney John Barnes. Barnes moved that all members of the cast be required to be present throughout their trial.

New York Graphic Declares Reconciliation Came About in Arizona

(By United Press) NEW YORK, April 3.—Without citing any authority for its statements, the Evening Graphic, New York tabloid newspaper, says that Clarence Mackay, head of the Postal Telegraph company has forgiven his daughter, Ellin, for marrying Irving Berlin, the Jewish composer.

The Graphic says it has learned that the reconciliation came about in Arizona, where Mrs. Berlin had gone for her health, and that Mackay, Ellin, Irving and the Berlin baby are returning together from the west.

Mackay, a devout Catholic and New York society leader, was reported to have disinherited his daughter in 1926 when she went against his wishes and eloped with the composer.

In explanation of the unlooked for reconciliation, the Graphic says an attempt has been made to keep it secret because of the fear of arousing the displeasure of Mackay's mother, Mrs. John W. Mackay, widow of the founder of the Mackay fortune.

At Mackay's headquarters, in the Postal Telegraph offices here, it was said that Mackay was out of town and that no statements were to be made concerning his whereabouts or published reports of a reconciliation with the Berlins.

Mrs. Berlin Refuses To Comment On Report

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., April 3.—Mrs. Ellin Mackay Berlin today refused to comment on the report that her father, Clarence Mackay, has become reconciled and forgiven her for marrying Irving Berlin, the composer.

Newspapermen, seeking to confirm the report, were met by A. Walker, Mrs. Berlin's secretary, who insisted that she would not talk.

He declared that Mrs. Berlin and her baby had come to Beverly Hills from Palm Springs, Calif., Saturday, the day on which Irving Berlin left for New York on business.

Walker declared he was not aware of any meeting between the Berlins and Mackay or that the latter was in the west.

CITRUS MART IN PROMISING CONDITION, SOUTHWESTERN INDUSTRIAL REVIEW SHOWS

(By United Press) LOS ANGELES, April 3.—Promising conditions in the citrus market, satisfactory sales of the Imperial valley lettuce crop, a new record in bank clearings for Los Angeles, heavy increases in stock exchange sales and increasing building and construction were features of the industrial activity in Southern California during March, according to the monthly business review issued by the chamber of commerce.

"The California citrus industry has entered its most profitable marketing month," the review stated. April generally brings good demand for California oranges and with good quality this season the industry expects a heavy sales volume.

"The Imperial valley lettuce deal is fast clearing up. On the whole the deal was satisfactory to both growers and shippers.

Signal Hill Gains In March a large increase in average production at the Long Beach Signal hill oil field maintained the total state production at a high point in spite of the decrease in the Ventura avenue field, brought about by restriction. The average production during the month was about 615,000 barrels a day, compared with 642,000 in 1927.

"There is some unsettlement in the local gasoline market. However, tank car shipments of gasoline were in stronger demand and export prices showed a distinct increase."

Los Angeles bank clearings, totaling $916,043,080, broke all records, the review revealed. Ten thousand more individual income tax returns were filed in March than at the same period

Oil Man Says He Wanted To Bid On Teapot

Hoover Tried To Help Him, Birch Helms Tells Committee

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, April 3.—The late President Harding and three of his cabinet officers, including Secretary of Commerce Hoover, had warning in April, 1922, that there was a secret deal with Secretary of Interior Fall's lease of the Teapot Dome naval reserve to Harry Sinclair, according to testimony before the senate Teapot Dome committee today.

Birch Helms, former Texas oil man, testified he protested to Harding, Hoover, former Attorney Daugherty and late Secretary of War Weeks personally and by telegram against the secrecy surrounding the lease.

He said he told the officials that his Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil company had wanted to bid on Teapot Dome, but that Fall misled him.

Hoover Tried To Help Hoover is the only one who took any action for him, Helms said. Hoover wrote Fall about the matter and received a reply from Fall's assistant, E. C. Finney, that Helms was mistaken about the matter.

"I might say I think Mr. Hoover did all he could about the matter," Helms declared.

Weeks was the only one of the others who replied to his telegram, Helms said, and Weeks pleaded he did not wish to enter the controversy.

Helms testified he asked Fall April 10, 1922 if his company could bid for the reserve and was told to see Fall later.

On the following April 21, according to Helms, Fall wired him: "Teapot Dome matter closed."

Helms' testimony preceded that of former Senator Irvine Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, who denied that he had counseled Fall to deceive the Teapot Dome investigating committee as to the source of $100,000 Fall received from E. L. Doheny, oil man.

Collections in March Confirm Treasury Estimates, Secretary Mellon Says MAY HOLD HEARINGS

Smoot Will Oppose Action Until Total of Further Appropriations Is Known

(By KENNETH G. CRAWFORD) (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, April 3.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon recommended to the senate finance committee today a total maximum tax reduction of $201,115,000 or $23,885,000 below his previous estimate.

If the Jones-Reid flood bill passes and is signed, appropriations for flood relief next year must be deducted from the tax cut, making the total tax reduction about $181,115,000, he told the committee.

Chairman Smoot later said the committee probably would require a week to study Mellon's $181,115,000 estimate, thus further delaying tax reduction.

Smoot Wants Delay The committee will meet again tomorrow to decide whether hearings should be conducted.

Smoot said he would oppose action on a tax reduction bill until he knows how much congress intends to appropriate for flood control, Boulder dam and Muscle Shoals.

It was said at the White House today that President Coolidge heartily approves the Mellon recommendation. He is studying the Jones-Reid flood control bill to determine its good points and possible weaknesses.

Mr. Coolidge had been informed the bill might cost $700,000,000, but was said to believe it is impossible now to estimate the cost exactly.

Mellon renewed his plea for retention intact of the automobile tax and for repeal of the real es-

Lenroot revealed that former Postmaster General Hays came to see him here later to ascertain what Lenroot, as chairman of the Teapot committee, was attempting to learn from Fall. guards, while within the elaborate residence the nation's idol talked in utmost privacy with his co-workers in the development of aviation.

Lindbergh arrived last night from El Paso with three of his friends and backers who helped him make his flight to Paris a year ago.

They were Harold M. Bisby, of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Maj. William B. Robertson, president of the Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Manufacturing company, and Harry Hull Knight, president of the St. Louis Flying club.

Avoiding the crowds and interviewers, Lindbergh hastened away after landing to the Montecito home of Mrs. Harry F. Knight, who was recently divorced, in Reno, Nev., from the father of the St. Louis Flying club president.

Plans Indefinite
"I do not know what my plans will be until I have talked with Mr. Guggenheim," Lindbergh told friends, "I expect to rest a while and I am told this is a fine place to be."

Lindbergh chose Mrs. Knight's home in preference to the Santa Barbara Biltmore hotel, where Guggenheim is stopping, presumably to allow him to escape the public gaze more effectively.

Lindbergh landed his plane at a private field at Casa Loma, taking advantage of the courtesy of Earle Ovington, a stranger, to escape the usual rush of admirers. Ovington, apparently advised in advance, had an automobile ready for the flyer and his party and Lindbergh waited until the car had drawn up beside the plane before alighting.

Lindbergh spoke enthusiastically about his new plane, which awaits him in San Diego, according to Ovington. It was expected that Lindbergh would proceed there in a few days to try out the new model.

which starts tomorrow, but the judge refused to act in a case which had not yet been called.

Barnes insisted on his motion after the judge ordered the clerk to "fill the jury box."

Judge Warns Attorney
"Please do not say anything more about the order," the judge exclaimed. "I will not tolerate another word."

Barnes kept on. The judge finally hushed him with:

"Unless Mr. Barnes will be seated I want him to leave the courtroom."

The detail of obtaining a jury then commenced. This was expected to consume the rest of the day.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT
Your ignorance of what you need is truly gigantic; your sense of capacity is an almost incredible delusion—so long as you trust in your own strength alone. Without your knowing it, the germs of deadly disease are fastening upon you and in your hour of weakness they will overwhelm you. An unhealed, wholesome outlook, an eager desire to become more worthy of the Father's approval, a determination to do small things well and to leave results with God, will do more than anything else to insulate you against devastating influences and to foster with you those qualities which will insure your triumph over weakness and doubt and wrongdoings.

FRUSTY—At 1021 Kilson Drive, April 2, 1928, Carl Edgar Frusty, aged 22 years, funeral services will be held Thursday, April 5, at 10 a. m., from Smith and Tutill's chapel. Interment Fairhaven cemetery. Deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Frusty, two children, Jack and Betty June, his father, C. M. Frusty, mother, Mrs. Ada Wilbur of Grants Pass, Oregon; two brothers, Clyde and William Frusty of this city, and a sister, Mrs. Pauline Cole of Grants Pass, Oregon.

BRYANT—At her home, 121 Cypress avenue, April 2, 1928, Mrs. Theresa A. Bryant, aged 83 years. Funeral services will be held Wednesday, April 4, at 2:30 p. m. from the First Presbyterian church. Sixth and Sycamore streets, Smith and Tutill in charge. Mrs. Bryant is survived by a brother, John W. Bleas of Sandwich, Ill., and numerous nieces and nephews.

O'BRIEN—At Balboa, March 31, 1928, George O'Brien, aged 88 years. Funeral services were held today at 10 a. m. from Smith and Tutill's chapel, Interment Fairhaven cemetery.

MELICK—At 815 North Sycamore street, March 31, 1928, Walter L. Melick, aged 67 years. Funeral services will be held from Smith and Tutill's chapel at a date to be announced later, and will be under the auspices of Santa Ana Lodge 241 F. and A. M., Interment Fairhaven cemetery. ## $3100 IN FEES SECURED FROM OUTSIDE FIRMS

Santa Ana in 1927 collected $3100 in license fees from concerns outside the city who send emissaries here to develop business for them, it was revealed today by Earl Lentz, license inspector for the city. This does not include itinerant peddlers who are charged $5 a day for the privilege of soliciting Santa Ana residents for business, Lentz pointed out.

Bread, pie and cake wagons, candy wagons, contractors and junk men pay the larger portion of this fee, according to the inspector.

Lentz said in making his rounds among business houses he frequently heard men say, "Why don't you make so and so pay a license fee," referring to outside concerns. He made a check on the collections from outside concerns to equip himself for answering such questions.

"It is the purpose of the city to collect a fee from everyone liable for the business tax, and we would appreciate information from residents who discover, or think they discover, persons liable for the tax operating here without paying the fee," Lentz said.

No one is safe!

Sailor, milkman, society girl—every one of us, no matter who we are, may offend unknowingly.

A plain talk about body odor

Easy to keep safe with this purifying toilet soap

YOU know others are guilty of body odor. It has offended you many a time.

And you know how quickly you lose admiration or respect for anyone who is guilty.

But do you realize that not one of us is safe from body odor? To live, we must perspire. Even on cool days, our millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

Don't risk offending!

Whether visible or invisible, this body moisture is always odorous. And it exerts no one. All of us—regardless of our position in life—may offend unless we take precautions.

SEEKS INJUNCTION ON PATENT CASE

Charging infringement of a patent on "Dessicator," a machine used to extract water from walnuts Edward B. Ward, San Francisco has filed an injunction suit against George I. Bauer, Santa Ana, in the federal court in Los Angeles, it became known here today.

It is asserted in the suit that Grahame B. Ridley, inventor of the machine transferred his interest in the patent to Ward in October, 1924, and that in spite of notices given to the defendant, he continued to manufacture and sell a machine which violated the patent rights of the Ward machine.

Ward seeks an injunction against Bauer and all his agents to prevent their selling of a machine said to be similar to the "Dessicator."

Walnut growers throughout the Southland are interested in the case.

WOULD LEAVE DEATH PENALTY TO HIGH COURT

OAKLAND, Calif., April 3.—Recommendation that the power of life and death be taken from juries and committed entirely to the seven justices of the state supreme court was made today to the California Crime commission here by Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco, who presided at William Edward Hickman's trial and Fred V. Wood.

"In the past 20 years or more in this state it can hardly be said that murder has been punished by either the death penalty or life imprisonment," the judge said.

"Sporadically the extreme penalty has been inflicted but too often unjustly and as for life imprisonment the parole laws have made it a meaningless phrase."

Our present laws, according to the judges, are an unfortunate compromise between the advocates and opponents of capital punishment.

"Our present laws in their application have perpetrated the most gross and glaring injustices and inequality," the proponents of the change continued.

"Murders of the most dangerous character have escaped with life sentence to be released in a few years under the provisions of our parole law, while in other instances killers in reality guilty only of manslaughter or second degree murder have been sent to their death through a technical finding."

"In our opinion there is little hope of improvement if we continue to invest the full power of life and death in a jury of men and women, inexperienced in law and trials, selected by chance, laboring under emotion, swayed by sympathy or passion, often with an imperfect understanding of the distinction between degrees of murder and manslaughter, hoodwinked at times by attorneys and frequently dominated by a few of the stronger characters on the panel."

Miss Lillian Clark, teacher in the grammar school, had as her guest last week, Miss Ada Robinson, of Vancouver, B. C.

New children attending the grammar school are Mary and Dorothy Hill, Riverside.

ORANGE COUNTY AIRPORT TO BE USED BY MANY

Evidence that the Orange county airport is preparing to step into place in the near future as one of the prominent aviation centers of this section was seen today when Antar Deraga, of the citizens' advisory committee on aeronautics, announced to the board of supervisors that a number of requests for hangar space have come to him and that several aviators are ready to erect buildings there as soon as leasing arrangements are perfected.

These men will erect $5000 hangars, Deraga stated, and will design them to conform to government specifications, or requirements adopted by the supervisors.

Deraga emphasized again the recommendation made by the committee that hangar space be given free for a period of three years, and the board received the suggestion favorably.

Chairman William Schumacher informed Deraga that District Attorney Z. B. West Jr. would be asked to prepare a leasing arrangement in which the committee's advice would be carried out.

Board members were enthusiastic over the possibilities offered by the airport and stressed the probable advantages which will accrue to Orange county from developing a well equipped field.

The belief that aviation in Orange county is bound to expand into an activity of considerable commercial prominence was expressed.

According to the plan suggested, free hangar space would be granted for three years at this time and aviators locating here a year from now would be given two years free rent.

266 LICENSES TO WED ISSUED DURING MARCH

March winds blew 266 couples into the marriage license bureau here to claim permits to wed, according to figures released today by County Clerk J. M. Backs.

The first quarter of 1928 ended with a total of 793 licenses issued. The records show that 285 were passed out in January, and 242 in February.

The three day gin marriage law still is cramping the style of the local emporium maintained by Cupid, and his attempted comeback is proving a hard battle, Backs said.

Last year at this time 1177 weddings had been authorized by the bureau here. In March, 1926 the figure was 362, while the records had to be turned back to 1923 to find a number comparable to that just announced for March of this year. In 1923, 275 licenses went over the counter.

We Lay Linoleum in Cement

We make permanent floors when we lay linoleum. We lay it in cement, make it as waterproof as it can be made, and do a real artistic job of it. Our expert linoleum workers know every detail through long experience. Horton's has been known a long time for fine linoleum work, work that lasts.

Spring Opening Display of English Linoleums

Renewing Your Linoleum

We invite you to come up to our Second Floor tomorrow and be entertained by something new in linoleum patterning. We have been in business a long time, but this is a novelty in our experience. It is a display of imported English Linoleums made by Staines of London.

Marble and Tile Effects

This showing is featured by marble designs, which we cannot attempt to describe. There will be streaked marble next to black marble, then a block of red marble, one with clouded colors, and so on, each joined with a marble inset effect in another pattern and color. The balance of color and design is perfect in its artistry.

This linoleum is the finest in the world. You'll find it only at Horton's. It will suggest many uses to you—a pattern for your kitchen, living room, sun room, or border designs in certain rooms, and so on. At any rate, we want you to see it whether you buy or not.

"With the power machinery it is just as easy to stand one of the heavy iron pieces on end in position as it is to stand a match on its end," Clyde Jenken, city engineer, commented today, in announcing the construction work under way.

At the same time he pointed out that the contracting firm would have to move fast to complete the job by June 15, the date when forfeiture of $100 a day will operate against the company for every day beyond that date.

CITY CO-OPERATING DURING CLEANUP WEEK WITH JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOYS

That Santa Ana has got busy in earnest in the clean-up and paint-up campaign sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce was evidenced today in reports emanating from the office of Clyde Jenken, city engineer.

Jenken's department has promised to carry away all the trash, weeds and refuse that the residents of the community provide and already, according to this official, the city employees are beginning to feel the force behind the drive.

"We have some extra equipment that we can throw into the battle," Jenken said today, "and if the piles of grass and trash get too numerous, we will use it."

He stated that the regular schedule for collection will be maintained throughout the week, despite the fact that heavier loads are expected.

Jenken requested that the citizens co-operate with the street department in handling the problem, pointing out that in many cases there may be extra large loads to be taken care of. In such cases, he said, the department should be informed, and it will send a special truck out to handle the load.

With the clearing of weeds and brush progressing at a rapid rate, it is expected that much ground soon will be ready for planting flowers, shrubs and vegetables, and that the foundation will be laid for making the increased beauty of the city a permanent thing.

Ridley Smith, chairman of the campaign, emphasized the perma-

BIG INCREASE IN COAST ROAD TRAVEL IS SEEN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 3.—Travel over the highway through Huntington Beach increased 125 per cent in March of this year compared with the same month last year, City Engineer Mervin Rosson reported at a meeting of the city council last night.

Rosson made the statement during a discussion on lights for the corner of Main street and Ocean avenue. Rosson was told to secure estimates on new lights.

The city engineer said that the traffic was checked by the state highway commission.

Dr. Sutherland and C. S. Chandler, of the county health office, made a report on the investigation conducted by the health office relative to breeding places for mosquitos in Huntington Beach.

A report from Judge Chris Pann revealed that traffic law violators paid $1076 during the month of March. Other offenses brought fines totaling $675.

Funeral services for Virgil Owens, 20, range youth, killed in an automobile accident at Parton street and Fairview avenue, early Sunday morning, were to have been held at the Winbiger Mission funeral home this afternoon.

Following the services, the body will be sent to Downs, Kas., former home of the Owens family, for interment.

A coroner's jury, in an inquest over the body yesterday afternoon, returned a verdict of accidental death, absolving Daffert Braden, 216 East Pomona street, Santa Ana, the driver of the machine, from blame.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, April 3.—Mrs. Leavitt Ford entertained a group of relatives at her home on Acacia street Friday evening in observance of the birthday anniversary of her husband and his brother-in-law, Rex Magill, of Orange.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Rex Magill and daughter, Marvline, of Orange; Mrs. Rosa Ford, Miss Mary Ford and Harding Ford, of Santa Ana; Miss Pearl Reich, of Villa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Ford and son, Gene.

Alva Preston and Miss Cecil Umphress attended the wedding of the former's brother, Delbert Preston, and Miss Freda Baldwin, at the home of the bride's parents in Riverside Thursday. Forty guests were present. The groom is a former resident of Garden Grove and has made his home in Downey for the past few years.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started the practice of medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plenty of plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year prove that it has won the confidence of people who need it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers. Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

HIGH TRIBUNAL TO PASS UPON "FOX" VERDICT

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article by S. S. Hahn, well known Los Angeles criminal attorney, gives an interpretation of today's step in the legal fight for life by William Edward Hickman.

By S. S. HAHN
Los Angeles Criminal Lawyer
Written for the United Press

William Edward Hickman, convicted slayer of little Marion Parker, is before the supreme court of California today.

This august body is called upon to decide whether Hickman's judgment of conviction should stand.

The legal point the highest court is to decide is the interpretation of a new statute which is rather uncertain in its provisions. The constitutionality of the law is involved.

William Edward Hickman entered a plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity." He never entered a plea of guilty to the charge of murder.

But the new law provides: "That the defendant who pleads not guilty by reason of insanity thereby admits the commission of the offense charged—in such trial the jury should return a verdict either that the defendant was sane at the time the offense was committed, or that he was insane at the time the offense was committed."

"If the verdict be that the defendant was sane at the time the offense was committed, the court shall sentence the defendant as provided by law."

A jury found that Hickman was sane at the time he butchered the little girl. Soon thereafter Judge Trabucco sentenced him to die on the gallows for the murder.

Hickman never was tried by a jury for the murder and a verdict of guilty never was returned against him.

The crux of the defense is that it is unconstitutional to deprive the defendant of the right of trial by jury. By this statute, it would appear that the legislature had deprived the accused of the right to trial by jury to decide his guilt or innocence.

The defense contends that the sentence of Hickman is in violation of the constitution which guarantees every person charged with a crime the right to a jury trial.

The defense further maintains that under the provisions of this new law, the legislature has in effect entered a plea of guilty for Hickman because he interposed a plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity."

It is the opinion of numerous prominent attorneys that the defendant, not having entered a plea of guilty, cannot legally be sentenced for any crime until he is pronounced guilty by a verdict of a jury.

Check Flu-Grip By Using Vicks at First Sneeze

Health Authorities Urge Precaution to Prevent Epidemic

If all colds were checked at the beginning, influenza, pneumonia and grip would be greatly reduced. It takes quick action to get ahead of the germs of these dread diseases. Many cases of flu start from germs breathed in. The effective way to attack them is direct—with vapors of Vicks VapoRub.

When rubbed on the throat and chest the ingredients of Vicks are released in the form of vapors which, being breathed in, carry medication to the inflamed air passages and lungs direct and instantly. In addition, it acts like a poultice and helps the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

While grip and influenza are so prevalent local people are urged to keep Vicks VapoRub ready at all times for instant use.—Adv.

Quality! That Is Why We Have Waste-Baskets

The trash-bin is always larger than the strong-box. The waste-basket is usually twice the size of the letter-tray. Quality, or the lack of it, is what determines the importance of everything in life, whether it is shoes or sermons, poetry or pigs.

Some people claim that price is the most important consideration in our stores. They are wrong. No article ever crosses our counters that hasn't a backbone of Quality. Seconds, job lots, articles that won't wear well are too expensive in the long run for us to offer our customers.

Quality—always at a saving. This is more than a slogan with us. It is the foundation on which we built a successful business.

FULLERTON GIRL IS CHOSEN QUEEN OF VALENCIA ORANGE SHOW BY SOUTHLAND EDITORS

Newspapermen of Southern California present last night at the annual dinner of the California Orange show, at the Elks club, Anaheim, elected Miss Ada Williams (Miss Fullerton) queen of the Valencia show to be held May 24-June 3.

The annual dinner is a courtesy by the management to newspapermen, city councils, boards of supervisors, railroad representatives, heads of citrus shipping organizations and prominent men of the south land, and was attended by approximately 250 men.

For the first time since institution of the Valencia orange and focus attention on Orange county as the greatest producer of this fruit in the United States.

The enthusiasm of guests made it difficult for Fritz Yungbluth, president of the show and Dr. F. H. Johnson, toastmaster, to put over their program of entertainment talks. Roy Mendoza, in Chinese garb, was the official greeter, and Dr. Johnson, also in costume, was greeted as "Ah Sing."

The vaudeville program was featured by a "Chinese" magician who mystified his audience by some very clever tricks. Jack Gledhill's orchestra dispensed music that maintained the spirit of the meeting.

The following responded to Dr. Johnson's request for short talks, most of them, however, being content to merely rising and acknowledging introduction:

William Schumacher, chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors; Al Parmenter, Los Angeles Times, who introduced the group of Los Angeles newspapermen; W. H. Blodgett, of the M. D. D., Redlands; Robert Strain, Fullerton, of the American Fruit Distributors; R. S. Rolph, of the Randolph association, Redlands; Harry Welch, Newport Beach; S. C. ## Chiropractic Will Get You Well

Your body at one time functioned normally, and if given the chance will do so again. Pinched nerves are the cause of most human ailments, and by removing this pressure we are able to restore permanent relief from your sickness or disease.

Why does your foot fall asleep when you cross your legs? Simply because you are producing pressure upon the great sciatic nerve, thus cutting off the nerve force to that extremity. A spinal nerve pressure acts much in the same way. It is difficult to walk when your feet are numb, likewise the organs or parts of your body will not function properly when they do not receive the proper amount of nerve energy.

Mrs. Blanche Addington, Westminster, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, was found guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday and sentenced to serve 600 days in the county jail or pay a fine of $500.

She was arrested by deputy sheriffs who raided her home several days ago, finding a small quantity of liquor. When the officers rushed into the house she was standing at the kitchen sink pouring liquor down a drain, officers reported.

Several men were in the house at the time, but none of them were arrested.

CITY COUNCIL AGAIN DEFERS ACTION ON MESA ANNEXATION PETITIONS UNTIL APRIL 16

With only three members of the city council present last night, action on the petitions asking that Costa Mesa be annexed by Santa Ana was deferred after Ed Vegely, city clerk, had announced that a checking of the names on the petition had not been completed and could not until a census of the community had been taken.

The first motion was to the effect that action be deferred for one week, but Attorney Frank C. Drumm and Stanley Reinhaus, who were present in the interest of property owners opposing the annexation, asked for still another week, which was granted.

Reinhaus reported that a check had been made of the names by the opposing faction, and from the findings he believed that the petition would be 17 names short of enough to allow the board to submit the issue to a vote of the people in the district. He said there were 77 names on the petition that would have to be thrown out.

City Attorney Charles Swanner, in discussing ways and means of taking a census of the community, stated that the board could take evidence and make a finding from the evidence rather than take a census which would be tedious and expensive. No action regarding the census was taken, however, with the absence of Mayor Purinton and Councilman W. J. Kelly.

A petition signed by 25 business men asked the board to allow the parking stalls granted to a taxi-cab company on West Fourth street, on the grounds that it was wondered if the board could tell me," he said. The city attorney explained that the summons had been published and the present board was rushing the matter along. Eaton owned the key lot to the situation.

C. L. Jenken, city engineer, was directed to furnish plans and specifications for the acquisition of property and for the widening of East First street between Main street and the Southern Pacific tracks. According to the resolution, the street is to be made five feet wider on each side.

Jenken said it would be two years before the work could be actually accomplished.

WEEDS MUST BE CUT BEFORE MAY FIRST

Vacant lot owners in Santa Ana have until May 1 to clean their lots of weeds before the city takes a hand and cleans them for them, it was announced at the city council meeting last night, when a resolution adopting the city weed ordinance was passed.

"We want co-operation of all persons in cleaning the lots however, because it will be cheaper for the lot owner and cheaper for the city if the lots are cleaned before the city crews start in," said Clyde Jenken, city engineer, who will have charge.

The resolution adopted declares all weeds a public nuisance and orders them destroyed. It also provides that the city will clean the lots where the lot owners fail to do so.

Takes Lead

Girls like this who have learned the art of keeping themselves always attractive usually lead wherever they may be. She follows the line. She's Carlotta Marino, of 27 West 58th St., New York City, much admired in the Vanities, the Follies and George White's Scandals, and a genuine star of the movie hit, "No Treason." She says: "When people admire my complexion or my hair, I tell them they can easily keep theirs the same way by simple care. The new way so many of us here in New York are doing our hair is especially easy. All we do is put a few dashes of Danderine on our brushes every time we use them. It's marvelous to see how beautifully clean and shining this keeps your hair. I don't have to shampoo half as often now. I set my waves with Danderine, too, and it holds them ever so much longer. All hairdressing disappeared with a few applications and my scalp always feels fine, now."

Danderine removes that oily film from your hair and gives it new life and lustre. It isn't oily and doesn't wash off. It gives tone and vigor to the scalp. The generous bottles are just like at any drug store. A delicately fragrant toilet necessity for the well-groomed girl—Adv.

JUNIOR C. OF C. MIXES HAWAII WITH CLEANUP

Linking further plans in its beautification campaign for Santa Ana with a program featuring Hawaii, the Junior Chamber of Commerce last night turned out one of the largest gatherings on record when Newman Pabst, Beverly Hills tree expert, Uncle Remus, radio humorist, Don Dearth, local ukelele soloist, and Miss Malihini, hula dancer, presented a variegated entertainment.

The program was arranged by a committee in charge of Tevis Westgate, who introduced the entertainers after Bruce Switzer, president of the organization, had opened the meeting.

In an address outlining the value of trees in a city's development, Pabst stressed the advantage of planting them, when possible, in the business section of a community. He pointed out what has been done at Beverly Hills and declared that the most tragic streets in a town are those where trees have been cut down because they were thought to be inappropriate in a commercial district.

Pabst praised the spirit of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in inaugurating its clean-up campaign here.

"The progress of your community is measured by you civic pride. It is up to an organization of this type to go out and solidify the community spirit that exists here. And you can do it if you will go out and work hard enough," the speaker said. "If you want to see your city grow beautiful, put trees on its streets."

Pabst came here at the request of Mrs. Clara Cushman city planning commission member, who also is serving on the judging committee in the local beautification movement.

Midway Cushman and Dr. R. A. Cushman were guests last night. Uncle Remus, whose solos and harmonica solos are well known to radio fans, conducted a three reel film exhibition of Hawaii's scenic beauty, in which the audience journeyed in imagination from San Pedro across the Pacific to Honolulu, taking shorter cuts to points of interest from the city.

Uncle Remus gave several harmonica solos, playing an instrument less than two inches in length, and also interspersed his talk with his most popular stories.

The screen show was given through the courtesy of the Los Angeles Steamship company, which also provided menu cards for the dinner.

Bidley Smith, chairman of the clean-up campaign committee, expressed satisfaction over the progress made and thanked the body for its co-operation.

Merle Hussong, president of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced the next meeting of that organization, for April 14 at Newport Beach and requested that the local chamber send delegates.

He also stated that the boys' chorus, of Santa Ana will be featured by a film company on that date, when movies of the vocalists in action will be taken and their voices will be recorded by the movietone. The pictures will be all over the world, Hussong pointed out.

Ukelele solos by Don Dearth, Santa Ana, formerly with the Hawaiian trio, were met with hearty applause, while Miss Malihini, hula soloist, captured the rapturing with her antics. Miss Malihini is known to the Junior Chamber members as Roy Lyons.

O. A. HALEY GETS HIS AUTO BACK BUT IT COMES C. O. D.

For years O. A. Haley, well known Santa Ana automobile dealer, has been delivering cars to Santa Anans but the other day was the first time he had one of his own delivered to him and it cost him $372 freight charges, as the car was shipped from Buffalo.

The car was worth more than $272, so it was up to Haley to pay the freight charges. Fortunately he had an insurance policy on the machine which covered his outlay of cash.

According to Haley, he had a salesman who bought a machine from him. This salesman, whose name Haley can't remember, he said, bought the machine on contract, and while working for Haley had a drawing account.

The drawing account became large and the salesman did not sell any cars and quit. Haley could not recover the amount of the drawing account from the salesman, so his machine was attached. Then the salesman paid the money owed on the drawing account, Haley said.

Several days later, the salesman left Santa Ana. He went to San Francisco in the machine, and then went east, finally arriving at Buffalo.

According to Haley he learned there that he could not get across the border with the car, into Canada, so he packed the car and shipped it back to Haley here, cash on delivery.

"Oh, well, funny things happen in the automobile game," mused Haley as he finished the yarn.

Brides in Ten Cities Tell Housekeeping Plans

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A thousand brides in ten large cities disclosed their household plans in a recent survey.

On one point all these brides agreed. Their homes are to be run with skill, but they will not sacrifice a bit of good looks or charm. For instance, nearly all have decided how they will keep nice hands in spite of housework.

Many had noticed in beauty parlors that pure Lux suds are used in manicuring, to soften and whiten the fingers. Others had noticed how nice their hands looked after washing fine things with Lux. So, of 1,118 brides, 1,084, or 97%, plan to wash dishes with Lux.

"It's so easy never to let your hands get red and coarse-looking," they said. "Many soaps make the skin harsh, but pure Lux suds are so soothing and gentle! And Lux for dishes is inexpensive, too, because the big package of Lux washes 6 weeks' dishes."

"The St. Francis Dam has broken! Spread the alarm!"

It was the voice of a telephone operator—another—another.

Though in imminent danger themselves, as the black wall of water loosed its violence on a sleeping countryside, these young women in towns of the stricken area, promptly and coolly passed this midnight call of warning—warning of impending doom. Constables, town officials and others in the path of danger were notified by telephone. Instantly, with shrieking sirens and clanging bells the alarm was spread—and hundreds of lives were saved.

The world hears little of the "spirit of service" until times of emergency, but behind the scenes in the telephone world this spirit is always present. Telephone users confidently rely upon the devotion to duty of the men and women who make this service possible.

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS-SPORTS EDITOR

Eastward the Bunion Derby winds its way! The odds now are against any of the foot-sore contestants reaching New York.
C. C. Pyle's $25,000 may be safe, even if his widely advertised Transcontinental Foot Race proves a flop.
In order to win the money, some one of the weary hoofers must reach Yankee stadium before Christmas and paddle around the running track to what Pyle anticipates will be the enthusiastic cheers of 50,000 spectators.
Considering the rate at which the contestants are dropping out, there may be none left by the time the Cash and Carryvan reaches the Mississippi. Arthur Duffy, referee of the race, estimated recently that 25 of the runners, walkers, hobblers and staggerers left in the race might reach New York. Nearly 300 left Los Angeles, and Duffy's estimate was made before the Derby had made its way across Arizona.
Men have crossed the continent on foot ere this, but not under the conditions outlined by Pyle. What the promoter expected to be "the greatest sporting event in history" is not even proving one of the greatest flops. It is just fizzling out, like a wet fire-cracker.

It is unfortunate, for Pyle's purposes, that the better known of his contestants dropped out first. The names of those remaining in the Bunion Derby are the names of heroes afoot, but they are not well-known names, nor names calculated to excite the interest of the communities through which the route of the races lies.

In the beginning, Pyle proposed to glean a harvest of dollars while his athletes gleaned blisters. The medicine show was to be the most important factor in the migration. Unfortunately, most of the class went out of the derby with the retirement of the better known runners.
Like professional tennis and professional football, the Transcontinental Foot Race is not living up to expectations.

C. C. Pyle is a genius who is not afraid of the necessary application to detail which ensures genius. Under the stimulus of his active brain, new sporting events flourish and start off with a crash of cymbals and a whanging of drums. And then the inevitable reaction sets in, and Pyle turns to something new, leaving behind him the wreckage of a great idea.

Pyle once said he expected to make the coast-to-coast marathon an annual affair. At present it seems he will be lucky if the first one ends within a year. From the remarks of some of the contestants who dropped out, it is doubtful if any will be ready to start over again next year.

The United States Lawn Tennis association has recently adopted a more friendly attitude towards professional tennis, which was one of Pyle's first loves. Charley has been too busy with his Bunion Derby to worry much about pro tennis this year, but he still believes it has a future.

Vinnie Richards remains the outstanding figure in professional tennis. Suzanne Lenglen, whose court wizardry made it possible, has retired to the comparative obscurity of the Riviera. None of the other professionals has a name with which to conjure dollars. And say what you will, the soul of pro tennis is dollars.
As for pro football, critics disagree. Some believe it will come along stronger than ever next fall. Others feel it is on its last legs. Next fall will tell.

Meanwhile, so far as the Bunion Derby is concerned, there is no doubt about it being on its last legs.

The Real Fastest Human

A series of articles on professional foot racing of 35 years ago in general and about Tom Morris, the Santa Ana boy, probably the fastest sprinter of all time, in particular.

The following times made by Morris will satisfy you that he was a runner: 50 yards, .05 flat (repeatedly); 75 yards, .07 flat; 100 yards, .09 3-5 (repeatedly); .09 1/2 (twice); 150 yards, .14 flat. Virtually all of the material was gathered and prepared by Ben Macomber, a Santa Ana of the early days and now a San Francisco newspaperman. The Register also is indebted to C. W. Raney, Morris' trainer in the old days; L. F. Harvey and T. E. Stephenson, all of Santa Ana, for information. The story is about a Santa Ana boy who made world history but whom the world has now almost forgotten. It should be of interest to any lover of sport, old or young.

CHAPTER VIII

A FAVORITE device of the old professional footracers was to go sharpshooting through the country districts under assumed names and plausible excuses, pick off the village champions and cash in on the local pride.

Various were the occupations assumed for the purpose of disguise. It will be remembered that Campbell, the first professional sprinter, Tom Morris was ever pitted against, appeared in Santa Ana assuming to be a traveling well boxer.

Quite frequently it was a peddler who appeared in the country town, casually joined the loungers on the porch of the crossroads saloon, skillfully turned the conversation to athletic prowess and when the brag began about the local sprinting crack, "howed he could beat that boy, and, by heck, would bet money that he could."

This was a profitable game. Once in a blue moon, the professional ran into a tartar, as Campbell did with Tom Morris, but ordinarily the village prides were easy for the trained and experienced professional. The country lad might have a world of natural speed, but without instruction he was very unlikely to have the form that could win from a fast professional.

But neither the country sprinter nor his backers knew anything about form or style. They were positive he could beat the world. They scraped up all the sporting cash in the neighborhood, all of which the sharpshooter was always prepared to cover, and when the race was over the village was faced by dire need of going to work.

Needless to say, the peddler made no more call in that district.

It was in the course of such a campaign that Tom Morris once dropped in on the city of Berkeley and the college boys of the University of California. He gravitated at once to the old cinderpath down under the oaks. There he appeared in the role of a country hick consumed with wonder at the performances of the college lads. This was a role, by the way, never particularly difficult for the former Gospel Swamp farmer boy.

Tom watched the college sprinter and sooner or later came the crack that he didn't think those fellows were so much and believed he could outrun any of them. He had $100 to say that he could lead those chaps to that string they put up at the end of the 100 yard dash.

That was the crowning insult to collegiate pride. And in those days, when the amateur creed was not so fully developed as it is now, it was not hard to get up a little money event around any college track in the country.

The boys saw a fine opportunity to take a country hick down the line and at the same time to supplement those remittances from home with some easy coin. To some of them it did appear a little shameful to take advantage of a country greenhorn's innocence, but they consoled themselves with the thought that the education would do the rub some good. He was too fresh, anyhow.

County's Biggest 'Fish Story' Passe

GRUNION UNDER PROTECTION OF STATE IN 1928

Catching Tiny Denizens of Deep Is Unlawful Now; Deputies Patrol Beaches

Orange county's biggest "fish story" will not be told this year. The grunion, that interesting and peculiar fish that was so much sought last season and others by beach bathers, amateur fishermen and others hereabouts, is going to have a chance.

Due to the peculiar spawning habits of the grunion, thousands of this flashing denizen of the sea went down to death when the hordes of beach visitors gathered them up in nets, bird cages, sink strainers and other contrivances when they were washed up on the beach to spawn.

The heavy loss, meaning almost the extermination of the fish, caused the Division of Fish and Game to sponsor legislative action protecting the grunion during the spawning season, and from now until June 30, deputies of the division will patrol the beaches intent on seeing the fish is protected.

Washed up at high tides, the fish spawn in the sand on the beach, waiting for receding waters to wash them back to sea. As the female digs in with her tail to deposit her eggs she is a helpless victim to any who seek to gather her in.

The Division of Fish and Game desires to enlist the aid of all of the frequenters of the Southern California beaches where this fish is found, to aid in the efforts to save them for spawning purposes. With the co-operation of the real lovers of these fascinating fish and the serious effort that will be put forth to apprehend all those who violate the law, it is presumed that the grunion will get another start.

Grunion is found only south of Point Conception in Southern California and must seek long strips of sandy beach, the same beach that draws the largest crowd of bathers.

TAYLOR, ZORILLA IN MATCH TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—Bud Taylor, Terre Haute world's basketball champion, will meet Santiago Zorilla, speedy Panamanian, in the 10-round main event at the Olympic auditorium here tonight.

In Zorilla, Taylor faces one of the speediest little fellows now appearing in local rings. The dark boy will be a real fight and is no longer the "Terre Haute Terror."

Bowling

KANSAS CITY, April 3.—"Hank" Will and Joe Hradek of Cicero, Ill., won the two team championship of the American Bowling Congress tournament today when their score of 1363 stood against the bombardment of the final squads.

E. Matak and L. Wolsiefer finished in second place with 1347.
Detroit, finished fourth with 1316, and F. Krems and H. Kood fifth with 1298.

The individual championship was won by Henry Summers, 23-year-old St. Louis bowler, who rolled 705 last Friday.
The "Oh Henry team of Chicago" rolled 3057 Saturday night to win the championship in the five-man event. Phil Wolf of Chicago won the all-events title with 1357.

GOODBYE MR. BEAVERS! WE WISH THE SAME TO YOU

Gone, but not altogether forgotten, are those Portland Beavers who put in so many entertaining hours in Orange county this spring. The Portlanders opened their Pacific Coast league pennant drive in Los Angeles today. Above are two of Orange county's most easy-to-look-at products saying adieu to three of the most "chawming" baseball bachelors. From left to right are Fritz Knothe, young shortstop; Miss Clara Baxter; Larry French, southpaw pitcher; Miss Laura Anderson, and "Buzz" Wetzell, pitcher from the Athletics. Below, also in congenial mood, is Ernie Johnson, one of Orange county's own, who is determined to land the Beavers one-two in the coming flag chase.

RED SOX, NATS BEGIN SEASON NEXT TUESDAY

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 3.—One week from today the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox will meet at Washington in the opening game of the 1928 baseball season.

The next day, Wednesday, April 11, the 16 major league teams will swing into action and the pennant races will be on again.

To permit President Coolidge to participate in the official opening, the other major league clubs agreed to permit Washington and Boston to open the season a day earlier than the other teams.

The arrangement, however, will not rob Boston of its opening day as the two teams will switch to the Hub for Wednesday's game.

Not predicting a pennant for his team, Stanley Harris may drive the Senators home a winner this season.

"We are stronger than we were last year. Our pitching is better."

The infield is steeper and we have stronger reserves," Harris said. "I can't see any club beating us out for second place. And if the Yankees falter we won't be asleep."

There are three Washington line-ups which beat the Red Sox. 6 to 2, in the opening game a year ago. Sam West, rated a coming star by Harris, will be in center field in place of Tris Speaker, and George Sisler will be at first instead of Joe Judge.

Grant Gillis will be at shortstop, Bob Reeves, regular shortstop, has been shifted to second until Harris is physically able to return to the lineup.

The pitching staff which Harris is confident will keep the Senators snapping at the Yankees' heels—and maybe in front of the whole pack—consists of Braxton, Hadley, Lisenbee, Gaston, Jones, Marberry, Zachery, Griffin, Wells and Van Alstyne.

If Harris should happen to get the very best out of that lot, the Senators might not ever be caught since they have a chance to get a one game jump on the field.

There's little hope for the Red Sox. Bill Carrigan will have performed a wonder if he gets Boston out of the cellar this year.

Glenrio, 45-Mile Post, Next Stop For Marathoners

TUMACACI, N. M., April 3.—Ninety-three runners and walkers left here today in a 45-mile lap race to Glenrio, the thirty-first control station of C. C. Pyle's Los Angeles to New York foot race.

Arne Souminen, Detroit Finn, finished fourth in yesterday's 34.2 mile lap from Newkirk, but still retained a time lead of nearly five hours over his nearest opponent.

Both Gonzales won yesterday's lap in 4:26:30. Olli Wantinen, New York Finn, and Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., finished second and third, respectively.

WOULD MEET GODFREY AGAIN

SAN DIEGO ONLY UNDEFEATED TEAM IN PREP BALL LEAGUE AS ALHAMBRA UPSETS DOPE

Long Beach high school doesn't care for any more of these April Fool jokes, thank you! But the rest of the Coast Preparatory league membership likes 'em and was hoping today that Pasadena has something up its sleeve with which to surprise the dangerous San Diego baseball team when they meet Saturday.

Following the unexpected defeat of Long Beach, 5 to 3, by Alhambra last week, there now is only one unbeaten ball club in the prep circuit and that is San Diego which massacred Alhambra, 17 to 2, two weeks ago and beat Glendale, 3 to 1, in a stirring pitcher's battle between Dobranski and Robinson last Saturday.

Consequently, every school in the league except the leading Hilltoppers and the lowly South Pasadenaans, have the same percentage, .500. Santa Ana lost to Long Beach, 4 to 1, but came back to humble Whittier, 14 to 4. The Saints are right in the thick of the race now and hope to improve their position by beating South Pasadena at South Pasadena this week-end.

The Tigers, although beaten two straight, must be feared as both of their reversals were by narrow margins. They held Pasadena 6 to 4 their last time out. This is vacation week at Santa Ana's schools but Coach Bill Foote will go right on conducting baseball practice just the same.

Prep Basketball Tourney Is Begun

CHICAGO, April 3.—The University of Chicago's tenth annual National Interscholastic basketball tournament opened here today. Forty teams, 30 of them state champions, were entered in the meet.

DONLIN IN MOVIES
Mike Donlin, former National league star, is working with Richard Dix on a baseball movie to be entitled, "Knocking 'Em Over."

COX, WILLIAMS HEADLINE NEW CARD AT DELHI

BY RINGSIDER

The popular Cox, amateur light heavyweight champion of the Pacific slope, came to terms today with Promoter Boyd Ellis and agreed to box the main event at the Delhi Athletic club tomorrow night.

After searching diligently for a worthy opponent for the 165-pound titleholder, Ellis finally awarded the match to Bill Williams, ace of the light heavies of the San Pedro fleet. Williams is a sailor on the U. S. S. California and bears an enviable reputation as a clever boxer and a stuff puncher. He may give Cox a battle.

A veritable flood of new faces and figures will adorn the Wednesday program. The semi-windup ushers in a pair of newcomers, "Red" Anderson, of Huntington Park, and Armand Garcia, one of Young Terry's Whittier proteges. They are welterweights and come to Santa Ana highly recommended as crowd-pleasers.

A sport, who may not be as bad as his name, will occupy the feature event spot against Leonard Rahming, a member of the Los Angeles Athletic club. They weigh 112 pounds.

Horace Selph and Hime Rudin, two more new ones, are listed among the preliminaries. Selph is from Corona, Rudin from the Boyle Heights Athletic club. They weigh 120 pounds.

An Orange boxer, Al Enanas, who made a sensational showing in a special bout at Delhi several weeks ago has been awarded a regular place on the card. He draws Jim Doyle, who is said to be deaf and dumb but so dumb that he can't sock aplenty.

Kid Bowers and Jim Long, lightweights, open the show.

EMANUEL, M'TIGUE TO CLASH APRIL 16

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—After a definite refusal to fight Mike McTigue here April 16, Armand Emanuel, San Francisco boy, changed his mind and put his name on the dotted line for the bout. The fight will be held in the state armory here under the auspices of the Monarch club.

Tunney always will have something on the Risiko, however. And that something will be the culture of which the champion is so proud. In an eating contest with strict rules about the proper handling of the stabber and the cutter, Tunney would get the decision 1000 good words to nothing.

Risiko will get along financially and socially, however, even if he can't aspire to the intellectual heights that have been attained by the fascinating playmate of the life risk. Risiko already is rich and he has become somewhat of a civic and social personage in his home town.

He was a guest of honor a few days ago at a luncheon given by the Town and Country club of Cleveland and he gave a superb speech which brought down the house.

"I can't talk, but I'll rattle or fight anybody in the house," he said and sat down.

It was this same humble expression made by Jack Dempsey about

L. A. PORTLAND CLUB PLAY AT WRIGLEY FIELD

Experts Think Hollywood Beavers Most Improved Of Eight Flag Bidders

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Diagrams of four baseball parks in California that have been covered with canvas will be unveiled this afternoon and eight Pacific Coast league clubs will start the 1928 baseball season.

Although there was the threat of rain throughout the state, only a downpour at game-time in Los Angeles, Oakland, Sacramento or here will stop the customary festivities of the opening day.

Portland's Beavers oppose the Angels in the south, the Seattle Indians will appear against the San Francisco Seals here, Oakland Stars, while Sacramento and the Mission Bells will entertain at Sacramento.

Jack Knight probably will be the pitcher selected by the Indians to oppose "Buckshot" May of the Seals, while Herman Pillette will likely be in the box against Ray Keating of the Senators.

Frank Shellenbach is slated to hurl for the Stars, and George Boehler for the Oaks and Clyde Barfoot of the Angels and Bert Cole of the Beavers are due for selection in Los Angeles.

The Oaks, Seals, Indians and Senators, which finished in the first division in that order last season, have all turned eagle eyes on Hollywood, the sixth place team last year, and Portland, which finished fifth in the same race.

So-called experts are almost unanimous that Hollywood is more improved than any other club in the league and a majority of them have indicated that Portland is stronger too.

COMMISSION FAILS TO SUSPEND TUNNEY

NEW YORK, April 3.—The New York boxing commission today failed to take action in line with its threat to suspend Gene Tunney, heavyweight boxing champion.

The commissioners had announced that unless Tunney accepted a challenger by today he would be suspended, but at today's meeting the heavyweight situation was not discussed.

SHARKEY, DELANEY TO MEET APRIL 30

WILLIAMS GLAD BASEBALL BACK IN OWN AGAIN

By HARRY A. WILLIAMS
President Pacific Coast League
Written Expressly for United Press
LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Baseball is here. It is the harbinger of pleasant days and easy relaxation, and there is not a normal man who does not welcome its return following a winter replete with spirited sports, all of them necessarily with-in short seasons.

Baseball is something which you can watch every day and enjoy. You never weary of it. This is because of the sustained competition and the endless variety of plays which the game makes possible.

Nobody can compute the hundreds of thousands of games of baseball which have been played, but it is a fact that no two have been identical, or even similar. The ball never follows the same course.

What Gives Greatest Thrill
Somebody asked me what is the greatest thrill among the many which baseball has to offer. Was it the home run either inside the park or over the fence, or the double play on a ground ball with the sphere passed from shortstop to second base and from there to first, or from second to shortstop and to first, with the skill and speed that one would not think possible.

Good infielders handle the ball with a skill which one would expect to find only in billiardists, and behind each throw is the power of a pugilist delivering a punch. And the footwork of a clever infielder can be likened only to that of an expert tennis player or a boxer.

There are a score of plays which intrigue me, but none more completely, than the runner trying to score from second on a single or from first on a double.

Then there is the situation with the bases full and two strikes and three balls on the batsman, with one run needed to win in the ninth, and everything depending on the next sweep of the pitcher's arm and the final swing of the batsman.

Hard to Beat This
For sheer intensity there is nothing in the world which can surpass this situation, unless, perhaps there is a runner on third with one out and one run needed to win in the ninth and the batsman hits a long fly or liner to the outfield. There is the heavy thud of the bat, and the ball sails high and far or screams on a line to outfielder.

The outfielder turns his back, or as the case may be, sprints to the right or the left and spears the ball, or rushes in and snags it off his shoe laces. With the thud of the ball in his mitt and the runner on third dashes for the plate. There ensues a contest between the leg and the arm—speed versus power and accuracy.

With the spring of the base-runner the outfielder uncovers his arm. There can be only the smallest fraction of a second between the two. Those in the stands strain to watch the speed of the runner, and the flight and trajectory of the thrown ball which comes in with almost unbelievable speed and accuracy. The catcher braces himself. There is a thud and a crash at the plate and the issue is decided by inches.

This is one of the reasons that we all welcome the cry of "Play Ball!"

Trojans, Saints Battle For Lead

OAKLAND, April 3.—Weather permitting, St. Mary's and University of Southern California will fight it out for the leadership of the Inter-collegiate Baseball conference this afternoon on St. Mary's diamond.

Cubs Take Fifth From Pittsburgh

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 3.—Chicago Cubs defeated their National League rivals, the Pittsburgh Pirates, for the fifth successive time when they won yesterday's exhibition game here 6 to 4.

Los Angeles will stage the 1932 Olympic games, if the word of Gustavus Kirby, president of the American Olympic committee, is to be believed.

If a girl loves her fellow,

Francisco newspaper, was the speedster selected to carry the college coin and send the hayseed bawling back to the tules.

Between them the college lads dug up the cash to cover Tom's $100. Then it appeared that the hick had more money than he was anxious to throw to the birds. In addition a couple of unidentified bystanders took up the cudgels for the underdog in this one-sided contest, and saying that they rather liked Morris' build, offered to bet a little on him if they could get odds. It is not hard to imagine who these bystanders were.

They could get odds and they did. The male part of the student body, not very large, of course, in those days, but their collegiate pride jolted by this rude hayseed, scraped to its last nickel, and this easy foreign money at last was covered. The outcome of that race was long referred to as the reason why "Brick" Morse is bald.

ILLINOIS TRACK SQUAD ON WAY TO MEET TROY

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—The University of Illinois track and field team was to arrive here late today for its meet with University of Southern California Saturday.

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—Coach Harry Gill, whose University of Illinois track and field team, champions of the Big Ten conference, will meet Dean Cromwell's University of Southern California Trojans at the Los Angeles Coliseum, April 7, left Champaign, Ill., today, considerably lighter in spirits. Recent feats of his two Daves, Capt. Dave Fairfield and Dave Abbott, distance runners, perked Gill up.

Of the 22 men who will meet a like number of Southern Californians, perhaps none are more consistent in the mile and two mile than Fairfield and Abbott. Before Abbott, a sophomore this year, was eligible for Illinois varsity track, Capt. Fairfield held the school record for the two-mile at 9:30, but Abbott turned in a sizzling 9:27.6 recently. The second year man also stepped a mile against Iowa in 4:24, which is considerably better than the time made so far by any Southern Californian.

Dan Lyon of Illinois, rated last year as one of the best shot putters in the country, probably has both shot and discus events well sewed up. Southern California is weaker in this event this year than in the last 10 years, and may be "slammed" completely out of the points picture.

Judson Timm, Illinois' great half-back, and Hugh Hale will get plenty of running when they bump up against Charley Borah, Weldon Draper and Willie Lewis in the dashes, and there is a possibility that Southern California will make a clean sweep.

Two aviating members of the Barnes clan, Capt. Lee S., Southern California, and George H., Illinois, will match leaps in the pole vault event, with the Trojan entry favored to win handsily. Earl White will be the second Illinois entry, with Jack Williams acting as second man for U. S. C.

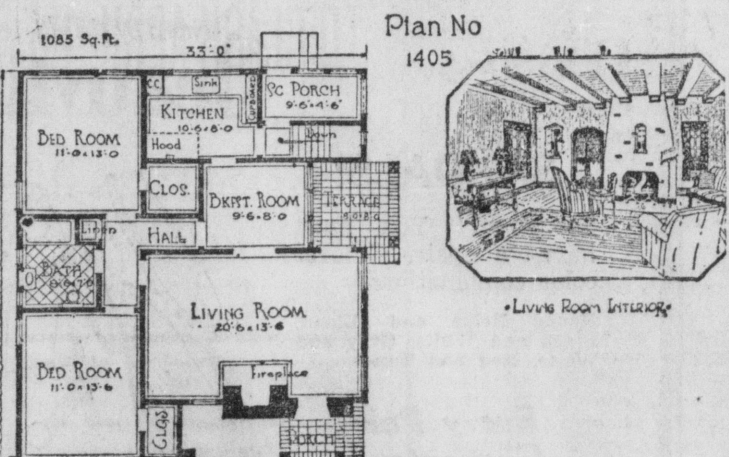

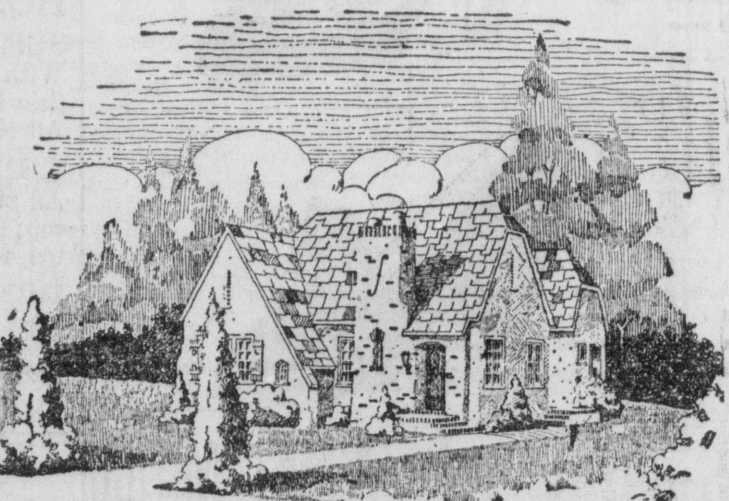

In the hurdles Dan Royer and Bob Rodgers of Illinois will have their hands full to defeat Jimmy Payne and Alex Graham of the Trojans, and Frank Stine of Illinois will encounter tough sledding when he hooks up with Jesse Hill in the broad jump.

Tom was away with the bark of the gun, his long, smooth stride fairly eating up the ground, and he almost had his clothes on again by the time the crestfallen Morse reached the place where the tape had been.

five years ago that caused about 20 dukes, lords and counts to fall out of their chairs in mirth at a dinner given to Dempsey in London by the late Lord Northcliffe.

AS RISKO SEES GENE
Risko apparently is becoming ambitious to do all of Tunney's stuff and no doubt he is reading up on "Good Wise Cracks for After-Dinner Talks."

Risko has a varied vocabulary. He always says "Yah" or "Naw" and occasionally he will shoot in a fast—"what the hell!" Sometimes he ventures forth into a real long sentence. When he was asked recently what kind of a fighter Tunney is, he answered:

"He was purty good when I fought him but he's only fought twice since then."

He didn't consider it important enough to amplify his judgment of the champion with an explanation that in those two fights since he had fought him, Tunney had beaten Jack Dempsey twice.

Risko and Jack Sharkey, in their generous way of admitting the class of their rivals, have something in common. They have a pet way of describing their competitors that puts a lot in a few words—"Him?" Hell—he's a bum."

A COUPLE OF HAMS

After his name had been announced by the New York boxing commission with Sharkey and Tom Heeney as an acceptable opponent for Tunney, some suggestions were made that Risko ought to fight Dempsey. Risko said he would fight anyone but added—"I thought I'd fought out of that guy's class."

Risko has, along with his other talents, a gift for quick and stinging repartee.

It was observed that during the Risko-Sharkey fight there was considerable conversation between the two participants, and some of his friends were curious to know what it was about.

"Every time I hit him in the belly he said—'Keep 'em up, you — ham,'" Risko said.

"Well, what did you say to him?" Risko was asked.

"I stopped him every time he said it. I just said—'You're a — ham yourself,'" Risko replied.

MACK CAUTIOUS BUT CONFIDENT CLUB STRONGER

FORT MEYERS, Fla., April 3.—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, is the very last person to wax enthusiastic over the prospects of the A's to tumble the New York Yankees from the American league crest this season.

"The Athletics are stronger and we are exceedingly hopeful," was Mack's cautious comment in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

Mack has seen his team blunder too often the last few seasons to build hopes too high for this season's combination.

"We are stronger with Hauser on first and Tris Speaker will bolster the outfield," Mack said. "That's the principal changes from last year except we have some young pitchers who may help us."

Mack sees in the Washington Senators and Detroit Tigers rivals almost as dangerous as the New York Yankees.

"Everybody's talking about overthrowing the Yankees," Mack said. "But somehow or other I just can't get it out of my head but that the Senators and Tigers will cause a lot of trouble."

"We fear the Senators and Tigers just as much as we do the Yankees. I'm picking Washington and Detroit to cause plenty of trouble before this season's pennant race is over."

As for Cobb, Speaker and Collins, Mack believes they blend perfectly with the rest of the team, giving the Athletics just the right amount of youth, experience and brains.

LOCAL SCOUTS IN SAN DIEGO FOR CONCLAVE

The number of scouts in Orange county yesterday almost doubled, at any rate for a few hours, when nearly 1000 from all parts of Southern California passed through on their way to the Older Scouts conference at San Diego, which opened last night with a big banquet at which James E. West, chief scout executive, B. S. A., was the principal speaker. Twenty scouts under the leadership of Scoutmaster Byron Shell, of Troop 92, Fullerton, made up the Orange county delegation, representing the 45 troops of Orange county.

Those who accompanied Shell were: From Fullerton—Clifford Berkeley, Fred Nunlist, George Livingston, Paul Herbert, Paul McGuire, Bill Wood, Byron K. Shell, Robert McCormick, Fred Reese, Anaheim—Very Backs, Don Fergus, Robert Dean, Orange—Charles Reed, La Habra—Nellian Tinker, Brea—Adelbert Andrews Jr., Santa Ana—Oscar Patmor, Warren Edwards, Jack McFadden, Harold Hemmer.

However the Older Scout conference was not the only thing that was taking the attention of scouts during Easter vacation week. At 9 yesterday morning Edmond Murphy, field executive, opened camp at Aliso canyon, Laguna Beach, at which he expected 250 scouts would be in attendance during the period from yesterday morning until Thursday noon.

Scouts, however, in Orange county not being satisfied with that as an activity, contributed more than 100 boys to the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce clean-up campaign, by having them on the job throughout the city as inspectors of some 100 different residences and business sections of the city.

The scouts are delivering the mayor's proclamation, together with a card listing the number of things that can be done during the week to make Santa Ana a city more beautiful.

Then to cap the climax of all good things for scouting during Easter vacation week, every scout and his friend is looking forward to the visit of National Scout Commissioner Daniel Carter Beard, at the high school auditorium, Santa Ana, Thursday evening. A special program has been arranged for that time which will involve the use of three or four troops of scouts and a number of scout friends who will participate in one way or another in the program.

BEACH GIRL IS ENDORSED FOR QUEEN HONORS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 3.—The Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting yesterday appointed Dr. G. A. Shank and C. P. Patton delegates to the Associated Chambers of Commerce, W. B. Mandeville, president, and L. C. Denslow, secretary of the chamber of commerce, are ex-officio delegates to the Associated Chambers.

Upon invitation of the Compton Industrial Fur and Rabbit exposition, the chamber selected Miss Helen Young to represent Huntington Beach as a contestant for queen of the show, to be held in that city May 1 to 7 inclusive. The girl who is chosen queen will be given a $1000 fur coat. Three maids of honor will be chosen, each of whom will be given a diamond ring. All other entrants will receive a reward on the closing night. Miss Young is the daughter of W. D. Young, automobile dealer in Huntington Beach. She is a graduate of the Huntington Beach high school and attended the Santa Ana Junior college last year. Miss Young has taken part in moving pictures and was invited by Buster Keaton to come to Hollywood for a try out when that organization was on location in Balboa several months ago.

A communication was read from Senator Hiram W. Johnson assuring the chamber of commerce that he would give utmost consideration to a bill relative to a special highway fund from the proceeds of the sale of surplus war material, etc., which the chamber recently endorsed. A communication was also read from Congressman Phil D. Swing promising his co-operation with reference to appointing the American Green Cross to have charge of the national program for reforestation, also endorsed by the chamber of commerce.

L. E. Mitchell reported a meeting of the Orange County Firemen's association held Friday, at which the subject of securing the State Firemen's association convention was discussed. Upon information given by Mr. Mitchell, the Huntington Beach chamber pledged its support to any city in Orange county that may decide to extend an invitation to the State Firemen's association for the 1929 convention. It is believed that Fullerton is contemplating extending such an invitation. The state convention was held at Stockton last year. At that convention Huntington Beach made a very strong bid for this year's convention but was defeated by a narrow margin.

New Police Head In War On Speeding

SAN CLEMENTE, April 3.—Forrest J. Eaton, formerly of Los Angeles, assumed his new duties as chief of police of the Spanish village yesterday. Eaton was appointed to the position some time ago by the city council of San Clemente, but was unable to end his duties with the Los Angeles police department until the first of April.

Eaton lost no time in assuming his duties at San Clemente, as many of the motorists returning from San Diego paid no attention to the speed limit signs which have been erected in the Spanish village. Several offenders were going from 55 to 70 miles per hour through the business section of the city when arrested by Chief Eaton. They were given tags to appear in Judge Leonard C. Nattkemper's court at San Clemente.

ANAHEIM AWARDED ENDEAVOR PRIZE

ORANGE, April 3.—For the second time, the Christian Endeavor intermediate society of Anaheim captured the shield given for attendance at the county Christian Endeavor rally held at the First Presbyterian church here Sunday. The winning society had an attendance of 18 out of 19 members. Nearly 250 young people were present at the rally.

Societies of the county furnished the musical program given in the afternoon. A vocal solo was contributed by a member of the Tustin Presbyterian Christian society, a vocal duet by the Yorba Linda society, a male quartet number by the Evangelical society of Santa Ana, and a piano duet by two members from Anaheim society.

The singing was led by Dan Milligan and Fred Barnhill of Calvary church in Placentia. An enjoyable feature of the program was the talk given by the Rev. Earle Pierce Cochran, of the local First Presbyterian church. The Rev. Mr. Cochran spoke on "Negro Spirituals." He illustrated his talk with songs. Mrs. Cochran was his accompanist.

Preparations were made for the county convention to be held at Laguna Beach May 18, 19 and 20. A number of prizes have been offered for societies having a 100 per cent registration. Everett Schneider, route 3, Anaheim, is the registration and contest chairman.

PUPILS WILL SHOW HOME AT ORANGE EVENT

ANAHEIM, April 3.—Amateur carpenters, paper hangers, electricians and decorators, all members of the eight-two class of the Fremont intermediate grammar school, are joining their efforts in preparing a toyland bungalow for the grammar school exhibit in the coming California Valencia Orange show. It was revealed this morning.

Under the direction of Fred Fredrickson and T. J. Mellinger, manual training instructors in the Fremont school, and Miss Naomi Williams, art instructor, the boys and girls in this class have practically completed their novel cottage.

The building itself was constructed by the manual training class last year and is replica of a real bungalow, built exactly to scale. Mellinger pointed out this morning. The miniature cottage is 39 inches long, 42 inches wide and a foot high. It comprises a large living room, two bedrooms, a bathroom, kitchen, screen porch and a breakfast nook.

All of the walls are to be papered and otherwise decorated, tiny wires are to carry "juice" to miniature electrical fixtures, a large plaster paris fire place has been made to grace the living room and a tiny hot water heater for the screen porch.

Each room is equipped with furnishings made by the pupils. The house is to be placed in the school exhibit minus its roof so that visitors may inspect its interior. A small garage, similar in design, will be included in the display, it is said.

COAST PARK AT LAGUNA DISCUSSED

LAGUNA BEACH, April 3.—First organized local effort to create interest in a coast park was taken yesterday when H. H. Henshaw, Anna Hills, N. E. West and G. E. Thompson, a committee appointed by the chamber of commerce, discussed plans.

The methods by which other communities might be interested in the project and shown the advantage it will be to every part of Orange County were taken up, with the suggestion that the committee be augmented by additions from various towns and cities.

Newport Fines In Month Total $417

NEWPORT BEACH, April 3.—Fines in the city police court here last month aggregated $417.50, according to a report made to the city council last night by Judge W. A. Leonard.

Police of the city received a total of 67 calls and made 27 arrests during the month, a report by Chief of Police J. A. Winn revealed. Fifteen of the arrests were for motor vehicle law violations. Two persons were arrested on intoxication charges and two for reckless driving. Other arrests included burglary suspects, one person for carrying concealed weapons and other minor infractions of the law.

NEWPORT COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACT FOR NEW BRIDGE; 9 ORDINANCES CONSIDERED

NEWPORT BEACH, April 3.—Letting of the contract for the construction of a foot bridge at Goldenrod avenue in Corona Del Mar and the consideration of seven city ordinances occupied the attention of city councilmen here last night. Lee R. Weber, local contractor, was given the contract for the bridge.

Weber was second low bidder with a figure of $9500. P. P. Janich was low bidder with a figure of $9219.50 but he failed to furnish sufficient bond to cover the job and his bid was thrown out. The engineer's estimate of the cost of the bridge was $10,000. Several other bids were submitted.

Friendly suits to establish the mean high tide line and to determine the dividing line between public and private property were ordered started in one of the seven ordinances to come before the city council last night. The action will be brought against the Irvine estate and will affect considerable territory in the bay and upper bay, it was reported at the meeting. The ordinance directs City Attorney Franklin G. West to launch the suits in superior court in the near future.

A fishing boat ordinance which has been before the council for the past year was adopted. Another ordinance was read for the first time regarding the changing of certain alleys in Corona Del Mar. No protests were filed against the proposed widening of Central avenue and the ordinance calling the election was passed for its second reading.

Three new ordinances were recommended by Chief of Police J. A. Winn. One of the new city laws changes city ordinance number 46, which governs the discharge of firearms in the city limits. Another ordinance suggested by Chief Winn creates the office of poundmaster and provides for the capture and disposal of domestic animals and fowls which are found roaming about the city without a city license. A uniform traffic ordinance, which has been adopted in a number of California cities, was presented to the city council and passed its second reading.

City Clerk Alfred Smith was instructed to communicate with officials of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company informing them that the proposed cable line across the bay was routed over a city sewer line and some trouble might result in the proximity of the cable and the sewer.

An application of E. D. Burge for permission to build a landing pier at Adams street was referred to the city engineer. The pier, according to Burge, is to be used as a passenger dock where the big new boat built by him will take on passengers. He explained that the pier would be open for the use of the public and that he would not keep the boat moored at the wharf.

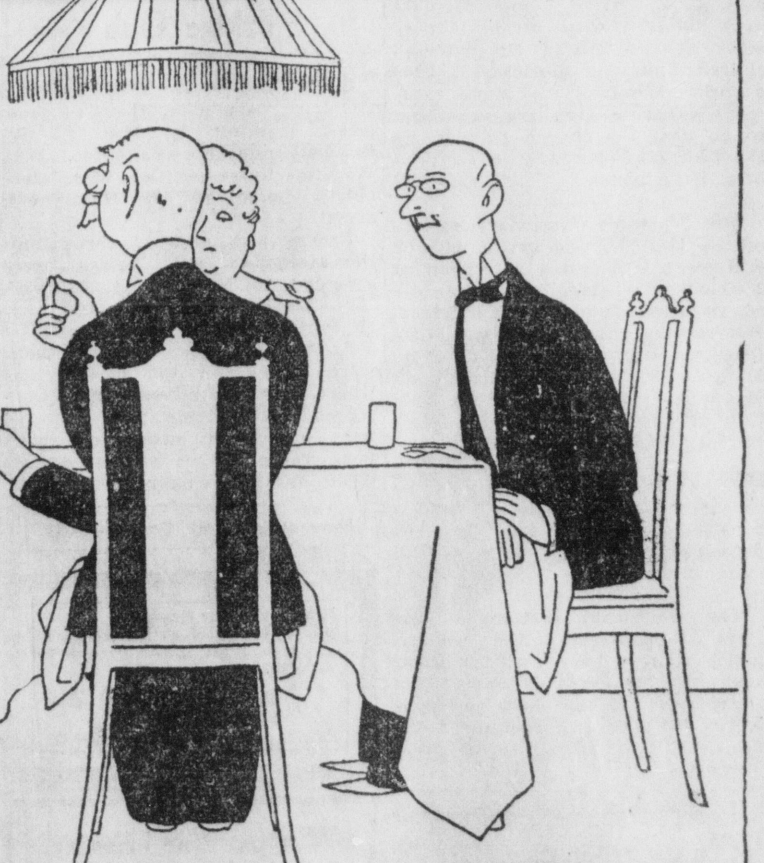

Permission was given Capt. W. G. Dare to build several ways on the Storey property on the bay front. In a letter addressed to the council, Capt. Dare explained that one of the proposed slips would have a capacity of 50 tons. The slip, he stated, would take care of the biggest boats which enter Newport harbor and would make it unnecessary for the owners of the large crafts to take them to San Pedro for repair work.

Reports of special and standing committees were presented and accepted by the council. The body will meet again April 10 to canvass the returns of the special annexation election which was recently ordered in a part of Newport Heights.

H. B. OIL WELL ON PRODUCTION -- HIT DEEP SAND

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 3.—The Garlepp well, located on Thirteenth street between Ocean and Walnut avenues, has been placed on production. After several hours of swabbing the well failed to flow and Sunday evening was placed on the pump. Monday morning the well had cleaned up enough so that the oil was turned into the tanks. This well was drilled to a depth of 4310 feet with a water shut off at 3950 feet. There is considerable showing of gas and it is probable that the well will flow when it has had time to clean up. The production is estimated at 350 barrels.

The World Petroleum company's No. 10, located between Walnut and Olive on Twelfth street, is drilling out the cement. It is reported that a good water shut off was secured. The Collier well, located at the corner of Eleventh and Walnut on land owned by H. T. Dunning, has reached a depth of 2940 feet. The Jim O'Donnell well at Fourteenth and Olive, which is making a test for the deep sand in the Huntington Beach town lot area, is reported to have secured a good core of oil sand at a depth of 5300 feet.

CEREMONY MARKS TREE PLANTING

BUENA PARK, April 3.—The tree planting at the new Lindbergh school here Saturday was witnessed by a large number of people, an interesting program being presented. The program was opened by William Gunby, president of the chamber of commerce.

Following the singing of America by those assembled, the Rev. Burton Y. Neal gave an address on "Trees."

One of the features of the afternoon was the "Song of Thanks" given by the pupils of the school. The song was written by the pupils especially for the occasion. Several readings were given by the pupils.

Two rose bushes were presented to the school by Louis Papilio. The roses developed by Mr. Papilio include a copper colored blossom named for the grower's daughter, Rosa Carole Papilio and a yellow rose, which he has named Lindbergh. The five-year-old fir tree planted at this time was purchased by the chamber of commerce from Mr. Papilio.

The ceremony closed with the planting of the trees.

Young Matron Plans Birthday Surprise For Husband

An enjoyable birthday celebration was presented as an event of the week, by Mrs. Clyde Martin (Margaret Hutchings) as a compliment to her husband, who was unaware of the hospitable plans until the very moment his guests arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin, who formerly lived in this city, are now established in a pretty home on North Zeyn street, Anaheim, and it was there that the party was held. Bridge was played during the evening, and attractive prizes were won by Miss Cuba Carner, Miss Janet Huarte, and Messrs. Percy Martin and Lawrence Mitchell.

Late in the evening Mrs. Martin arranged the card tables with some of her lovely bridal linens, centering each with a clever group of Easter rabbits, and served an appetizing little supper with the aid of her mother, Mrs. C. Hutchings and Mrs. R. L. Martin.

In the merry group were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Martin of this city, Miss Marian Downes of Los Angeles, Miss Janet Huarte and Miss Cuba Carner of Anaheim, Miss Lillian Woodworth of Brea, Messrs. Wayne Wyman of Los Angeles, Jimmie Fitzgibbons and Lawrence Mitchell, of Anaheim, and Bob Jensen of Brea, Mrs. R. L. Martin and Mrs. C. Hutchings.

April Social Affairs For Members of Country Club

What does April offer at the Country club? Is the question that members of the Santa Ana club have been asking themselves recently. And the question has been answered in satisfactory manner by the latest edition of "Sparks," the country club bulletin.

For "Sparks" outlines the month's social events which will include a dance, an afternoon bridge for women members and an evening bridge for husbands as well. Also it tells of golf activities for the past month, and of the work on the course.

The first club party of the month, will be the informal dance of Friday night, April 13. Doyle's orchestra will furnish the music and dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. Punch and cake will be served.

On the following Friday, (April 20) will come the bridge luncheon, instituting the new day of Friday for the monthly feature, rather than Wednesday. Luncheon will be served from 12:30 until 2 o'clock, when the game begins. Early reservations are asked for this affair, in order that tables may be in readiness.

The evening of bridge will come on the final Friday of the month, when husbands and wives will compete for the handsome prizes selected by the entertainment committee. Punch and wafers will be served during the evening. Reservations are asked for this function also.

Club grounds have been beautified during the past two months, by the planting of about 1600 trees. These have included eucalyptus, acacias, peppers and other varieties, together with ornamental shrubberies around the clubhouse itself. Another improvement started, has been the sanding of the fairways.

Golf enthusiasts among the women, have been especially interested in the Ladies' Scotch foursome which were played late in March, with Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth and Mrs. L. H. Robinson, first, and Mrs. J. L. Wheeler and Mrs. R. D. Crenshaw, second. Mrs. Charles V. Doty was the winner in the Lorenz cup play, making the second success for her.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Group of Hostesses Entertain Friends At Bridge

Quantities of lilies and other springtime blossoms, added charm to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert E. Dawson, 521 South Birch street, when Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. Albert R. Morrison, Mrs. Garfield F. Ludlow and Mrs. Wallace E. Myers, entertained at an evening of bridge as an event of the week end.

Late in the evening, pretty linens were used to replace the card table covers, and each table was adorned with Easter blossoms for the serving of pineapple salad with wafers and coffee.

Enjoyable Dinner In Sullivan Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan, 1908 West Seventeenth street, was the scene of a merry affair of recent date, when Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, newcomers to this city, aided in presenting the dinner.

The menu was a delicious one and was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Driemmen, Miss Anna McKlurkin, the Misses Mary and Georgia Morris, Messrs. Raymond Inman and D. J. Murphy, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Harvey and Miss Mary Alice Harvey, Garden Grove, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan.

Parent-Teachers

Members of McKinley P-T. A. had a very enjoyable afternoon at their latest meeting planned for them by their president, Mrs. H. F. McKayne. About 30 mothers attended and the time was passed by cutting pictures from magazines and in social conversation.

The teachers will use the pictures clipped for posters and the many different subjects they teach. The pictures will be grouped under different headings, such as the art group, dental groups, cleanliness, cooking and other classifications. This plan will make it very convenient when a teacher wants to bring out one particular subject, for all she will have to do is to get her envelope containing the group she wants and she will have all the subjects desired for posters.

Besides helping the school in this way, a sum of about three dollars was taken in and the proceeds were turned over to Miss Marx of the kindergarten, to buy whatever she wishes for her class. Miss Marx's room won the proceeds by having the most mothers present.

Miss Griffith, of the teachers' staff, gave a very delightful talk on the paintings from the Laguna Art exhibit which were on exhibition at the school at this time. Miss Griffith was very familiar with the paintings, as her father, William A. Griffith, had no less than four canvases in the group.

At the close of her talk, tea was served and Mrs. McKayne was congratulated on planning such a delightful afternoon.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

I wonder if clever store managers can't do something about too earnest competition on the part of their sales people, when the result is that the customer is literally hounded to death. It's a problem, I wandered into the silk department of my favorite store the other day, thinking that an hour's leisurely wandering through the department and seeing what was being shown would enable me to plan the spring wardrobe.

I had every intention of buying materials as soon as I knew what I wanted. But from the minute I got off the elevator I was dogged by first one sales person and then another, all glaring at one another. Just as I tried to cogitate and decide whether a blue or beige print would best harmonize with my left-overs, some helpful clerk would insist on showing "madame" "this charming purple" or this "lovely green" or this "gorgeous cerise," and just as I meditated on whether I most wanted a crepe afternoon dress or a chiffon, up would come somebody with a bolt of "nice serge."

To make a long story short, I couldn't concentrate as I wasn't let alone long enough. I refused to buy without chance for reflection and departed. Must we know exactly what we want before entering stores? If there is no way to make managers see that the chance to browse in a silk aisle, for instance, is as necessary to the customer as the chance to browse in the circulating library?

They'd make much more money if they'd call off the pack!

NO, NO, NO!

Modern women hate and despise the name "feminist." Dorothy Dunbar Bromley, selected as an outstanding "modern woman," to discuss the state and advance of woman during the past year, writes on "Feminist—New Style" in "Mirrors of the Year—1927-28." She says:

"Feminism" has become a term of opprobrium to the modern young woman. For the word suggests either the old school of fighting feminists who wore flat heels and had very little feminine charm, or the current species who antagonize men with their constant clamor about maiden names, equal rights, woman's place in the world, and many another cause—ad infinitum. Indeed, if a blundering male assumes that a young woman is a feminist simply because she happens to have a job or a profession of her own, she will be highly—and quite justifiably—insulted!"

You said "a mouthful," Dorothy!

IN RUSSIA

Women of Soviet Russia have things worked out like this, according to Jessica Smith, author of "Woman in Soviet Russia." "Man and woman are economically independent of each other and are jointly responsible for the children's support, while communal homes, day nurseries, public dining rooms and laundries are gradually taking women's place in controlling the details of daily living." And I wonder if women—and men, too—are any happier than in the old days when man supported and woman managed the home?

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(Read The Story, Then Color The Picture)

"Ah, there we are," the baker cried. "The cake is set to put inside the oven, and we soon shall see what sort of luck we've had. We've surely done the best we could, and I just bet 'twill be real good. You've all worked hard, but when it's done, I'm sure you will be glad."

The Tinsies lifted up the pan and with it to the oven ran. The baker opened up the door and put the cake pan in. Now, everything seemed quite all right, and so the door was shut up tight. The baker said, "It's baking now." This made the Tinsies grin.

"Well, while we wait, I have some work," the baker said, "that I can't shirk. I'll leave you Tinsies here and I'll soon be back this way." Then, as he journeyed o'er the hill, the Tinsies just could not keep still. To celebrate the cake they all began to run and play. Alas, alack, this sure was sad. It made their cake turn out real bad. Their jumping 'round had jarred it and the top fell very flat. The baker came and looked inside and then to cheer them up he cried, "I have another cake, so don't you fret and fuss 'bout that." And, sure enough, another cake had been put in to slowly bake. This was a great big round one, and it had three layers, too. The baker said, "Now, close your eyes while I prepare a fine surprise. The cake is done, but there's one thing that I desire to do."

The Tinsies closed their eyes real tight. The baker worked with all his might at spreading dandy frosting on the luscious looking treat. This helped the cake a lot, no doubt. And then the Tinsies heard him shout, "All right, you all can look now, 'cause the cake is set to eat."

(The Tinsies have a cake party in the next story.)

Four roots oyster plant or salsify, 3-4 cup diced celery, 2 pimientos, 1-4 cup English walnut meats, French dressing, lettuce.

Scrub salsify and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drop immediately into cold water and rub off skin. Cut into dice. Combine with celery, pour over French dressing and let stand on ice for thirty minutes. Arrange on lettuce, garnish with strips of Pimiento and sprinkle with nuts.

This is an excellent salad for this time of year. Salsify is at its best and quite inexpensive.

EAT THE THEATER

WEST COAST-WALKER

"The Showdown" current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater, is a powerful drama of a man who loved deeply, but too much of a man who had everything within his grasp, then deliberately throws it away, yet gaining something bigger in life for it.

Spiritual happiness is the solution of the theme. The giant oil driller, hounded by agents of rival companies, falls in love with the wife of his brother's partner while they are all living under the same roof in the deep, dark mysteries of the Mexican jungle and through his overpowering love, renounces his chances for companionship and wealth.

The story is laid in lower Mexico, in the dense tropical country, where white men seldom tread. Picture then, the entry of a beautiful woman amongst five men who are battling each other for black gold—oil.

The supporting cast is most imposing. Evelyn Brent, plays the feminine lead, with other well known players such as, Neil Hamilton, Fred Kohler, Helene Lynch, Arnold Kent, Leslie Fenton and George Kuwa included in it.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Victor McLaglen came to the Yost Broadway theater last night in "A Girl in Every Port," a fast moving, thrilling, original story of a roving sailor.

Not since his role of "Captain Flagg" in "What Price Glory" has McLaglen had the opportunity to play such a human and likable character, and it was the opinion of this reviewer that his "Spike Madden" will take his place among the well remembered characters of the screen.

the feminine leads into production. Marie Casajua, the little Spanish beauty recently imported from her native land, is the Argentine miss. Louise Brooks plays the role of the French maiden who almost breaks up the friendship.

WEST END THEATER

What is said to be the greatest collection of world champion swimmers ever to appear before the camera in a body took part in the filming of "Her Summer Hero," the attraction now running at the West End theater.

With all of these noted athletes competing, it was no task to get a crowd together for atmosphere during the big race scenes. On the other hand, the problem was that of controlling the huge crowd which gathered along the board-walk and on the pier at the St. Catherine hotel.

In September, 1926, only one public school in Chicago used radio in its class work. Now more than 50 schools in that city make use of public school programs broadcast there.

PRISONERS IN PENITENTIARY LEARN FARMING

Young Birth For

By EDWARD W. LEWIS
United Press Staff Correspondent
ATLANTA, April 3.—Farmers who behave themselves will have a better time at the federal penitentiary than anybody else.

Several hundred prisoners congregate in the penitentiary, planting and tending livestock out on the prison farm, six miles from the walls and many more from the prison atmosphere.

Mr. A visit to the farm in early morning reveals the busy scene. The penitentiary is a large, modern building, half a mile long, with wide, open windows and sides for the warm summer time. Great pens for hogs and wide ranges for them are in a grove. It is a typical huge Georgia plantation, and with little of the appearance of an institution.

A man "in" for 20 years for embezzlement may call "chick, chick, chick."

Another, serving a term for robbery may carefully cull over the corn allotment for his pigs.

A safe cracker may tend the water-pumping machinery.

Most of the prisoners on the farm are short-term ones.

The percentage of those who escape is negligible. Nearly 100 per cent obey their promise not to leave the confines of the farm.

Furniture upholstering, painting, Ph. 326. Ed. Jones & Co., 821 E. 4th. —Adv.

Earl Carroll was one of the latter type.

Nearly all fresh vegetables, pork, eggs and butter used inside the penitentiary proper, come from the farm. Thus 3000 men are the consumers of its products.

Clean white buildings — large white barracks with wide open windows and sides for the warm summer time — are in the center of the plantation. Big barns with room for cattle and horses stretch down below. Great pens for hogs — and wide ranges for them are in a grove. It is a typical huge Georgia plantation, and with little of the appearance of an institution.

THE SOVIET DISARMAMENT PROPOSAL

It was rather an embarrassing moment when Litvinoff, the representative of the Russian Soviet government, launched his radical disarmament proposal at the meeting of the Preparatory Disarmament Commission at Geneva. Being supported by Germany and Turkey, it was the more disconcerting. The New York Times correspondent reports that it was received with "great breaths of silence." It was a challenge to the sincerity of the governments represented on the commission. It said, "Now, if you mean business, let us get down to the bottom of things." And the members of the Commission who had been working along an altogether different line began to feel that they were being maneuvered into a false position before the world by the drastic proposals of the Russian Soviet government.

Litvinoff's plan was to scrap every bit of armament in four years. It was to be done in four annual installments, and at the end of the period the means for waging war would not exist. After all, he said, without armaments you can have no wars. The day following the proposal, Lord Cushenden, the English spokesman, got himself together, and in a most frank address questioned the sincerity of the Soviet proposal, and even charged that it was a sinister attempt to break up the League of Nations, of which the Soviet government had always been an opponent. He saw in the plan, which permitted each government to have enough of an army to protect its borders, a sly move on the part of the Soviet government to have a large standing army, because the Soviet government had the most extensive boundaries of any of the governments represented on the Commission. To this Litvinoff replied, pleading the sincerity of his government, and pointing out that in his plan provision had been made to divide the seas into sixteen zones which were to be guarded by the nations bordering on these zones.

It was very evident that there was no disposition on the part of the Commission to consider the Soviet proposal. It will continue along the line upon which it started. This is to diminish gradually, to limit certain aspects of modern warfare, and to await a growing idealism among the nations to determine policies necessary in a practical world. This must be said for the Soviet proposal, that it has arrested the attention of the world, and like all drastic proposals may have a tendency to speed up the movement for disarmament a little faster. It is a practical world in which we are living, and it is hardly to be expected that movement from one point to another point cannot be made without traversing every intermediate point. History and progress is ordinarily made by evolution rather than by revolution. With the experience of 1917 so close in the background, the Soviet government is not so fearful of radical movements as are the nations which have been developing for many centuries.

A LIKELY APPOINTMENT

Ohio will now have a Democratic Senator again. Former Senator Pomerene was defeated two years ago by Senator Willis. The death of Senator Willis places the appointment of his successor in the hands of the governor of the state. The governor of Ohio is a Democrat and of course will appoint a member of his party. It is entirely possible that that individual will be Judge Florence Allen, the first woman who has ever been a member of the Supreme Court of any state.

Judge Allen was a candidate for nomination on the Democratic ticket but was defeated by former Senator Pomerene. She is a dry and Pomerene is a wet, and it was generally conceded that it was the wet vote in the Democratic ranks that gave Senator Pomerene the ascendancy in the primaries over Judge Allen. Governor Donahey, on the other hand, is more nearly in accord with the views of Judge Allen than he is with Mr. Pomerene. The political group which has supported Mr. Pomerene have not been overly friendly to the governor and this may lead to the appointment of Judge Allen. She is internationally known. She has been heard on the platform not only throughout this country but abroad. She would be a strong and winning figure in the United States Senate. As long as a Democrat is to be appointed in any case, we can imagine no finer tribute to womanhood, to character and ability than the opportunity that is now afforded Governor Donahey.

IT MAY BE AN EXPLANATION

Albert B. Fall declares now that the reason he wrote his untruthful letter in which he said that he got the money from Edward B. McLean was that certain senators, namely Senator Reed Smoot, and ex-Senator Lenroot, together with Will Hays, told him to do it. The presumption is that they told him to do it in order to avoid the disclosure of the real facts. Lenroot and Smoot have promptly come in with a denial. Hays is abroad, but his denial by cable is expected. One will affirm and the others will deny. Where does the truth lie? We do not know. Unfortunately the letter that Mr. Fall wrote concerning the matter which now he acknowledges to be false is not positive proof that he is telling the truth now. On the other hand, it is difficult to believe that he would make up such a story out of whole cloth, though the anxiety for men in trouble to have sharers of their trouble is so well known that it prompts one to suspicion of the truth of the charge. In the light of the disclosures concerning Hays himself and the effort that he put forth to conceal the damning facts, his statement will have little weight and as a matter of fact would hardly affect the reputation he has now gained. In any case a dispute between Hays and Fall as to the truthfulness of such an episode would hardly be interesting.

We regret that few, if any, of the national leaders of the party with which these men have claimed affiliation have denounced this criminality, bribery, and corruption, save Borah. Silence alone, in some places, covers rascality when it is exposed, almost as with a cloak. The conscience of the American people has been shocked by the facts as they have been discovered and an expression indicating a righteous indignation by men in high places at Washington would have aided in deepening the conviction upon the people of the heinousness of the crime. There has been a feeling of disappointment in this failure. Fall's assertions concerning some of these men would explain their silence and it is probably the most important circumstance which would loan strength to his statement.

There is reason why men will keep silent now who advised the covering up of the transaction then or who were even cognizant of the facts and failed to declare them. Must we take this as the explanation of the "tongue-tiedness" of public men? Are they afraid to condemn because of the fear of the reply that Fall and others can make? How far-reaching is it? What are the facts? What more can we expect? There can be wide difference of opinion among patriotic citizens on matters of economic or political policy, but there can be no difference of opinion among honest men in regard to a case like this.

PEACE ORGANIZATION IN THE UNITED STATES

The World Peace Foundation of Boston lists forty-one different organizations in this country which are working for international peace. These organizations represent endowments such as the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the World Peace Foundation, the American Peace Society, and the World Alliance for International Friendship, through the churches. Some of them represent organizations of churches, group agencies, and independent movements of one form or another. A rather formidable propaganda movement is represented by these different organizations.

Many of these agencies overlap, and some of them, like the American Peace Society, work independently of all the others; but most of them co-operate. Tons of literature are being circulated to inform the people of the country on questions of international concern. The World Peace Foundation publishes a series of booklets each year, written by experts familiar with matters of international controversy and international co-operation, which are thorough and unbiased. Booklets of this sort dealing with the Mexican question, the Nicaraguan situation, the conditions in China, and many other similar international complications, published at a mere nominal price of five cents, have already been published. The American Peace Society publishes The Advocate of Peace. Many other organizations send out speakers; others act as a lobby to watch legislation in Washington; still others issue bulletins from time to time in their supporting constituencies; still others are engaged in research.

It would seem that the peace movement is about as well organized as any propaganda movement existing in the country. It has a direct appeal to a very wide and an ever-widening constituency. There is nothing in international affairs that escapes the scrutiny of some one or more of these organizations. It is no wonder that the Army and Navy League, and the Defense Committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution find themselves so powerless to put over a program which runs counter to the purpose of all these peace organizations. They cut down the great navy bill. They held back the State Department from its aggressive policy in Mexico a year ago. They have kept the Nicaraguan situation continually in the limelight.

We have no hesitation in saying that it is becoming more and more difficult for the jingo and the selfish interests to put things over on the American people in the guise of defense or patriotism. These organizations in the main represent men and women who seek justice for all mankind; and while intensely loyal to their country, they do not intend to sit supinely by while a strong nation unjustly or selfishly bullies a weak nation. The hope for international understanding and peace depends largely upon a well-informed and a high-minded public opinion. And that is what most of these peace societies are engaged in bringing about.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

PURSE PILFERING

Many, many children take money from their mothers' purses when they get the chance. I believe they ought not to get the chance. I believe it is the grownup's attitude toward money that sets the notion that it is all right to take pennies from mother's purse. Grownups are careless about "change." We ought not to be.

Children know nothing about money. They know nothing about the labor that provides it. They know nothing of the obligations it is intended to meet. They have no idea of its value in terms of living. All this they must learn by experience. Watching us is the first and the surest way of learning.

If we go marketing and return with some change in our purses instead of sitting down at the table and checking up the expenditure in our account books, balancing the account, counting the money left in the purse meager and forget whether we had a dollar and twenty-seven cents or eighty-seven cents left, we are courting trouble with the children.

Money means a way of getting goodies. It is a way of getting pleasure—movies, shows, and the like. Mother doesn't know how much money she has. She doesn't care about a little change any way. So very quietly, without any embarrassing on-lookers, the child takes a few pennies and goes on his way.

I believe that if we take a graver attitude toward money the child will reflect it, the usual child will reflect it. Only the extraordinary one will not catch the attitude. He falls outside this story and is to be handled differently. The usual healthy minded child will follow his mother's attitude.

Keep an account book. Enter in it every cent you handle and every cent that is spent and saved. Know every night where every penny went. When a purchase for a child is to be made, talk it over with him. Begin when they are buying their first toys and continue on until they have gained the power to earn their own money, care for it, spend it.

Begin early to make the child conscious of the meaning of the money that is in your purse. Teach them how it gets there. As soon as possible tell them about the family budget and their share in it. Educate them in the ways of thrift which include spending as well as saving and earning.

Whatever you do, DON'T toss your pocket-book aside with a careless air; DON'T speak lightly of the cost of anything; DON'T take an attitude of superiority to change. Change is money and the kind of money that children handle. To belittle it, to cheapen it, is to give false ideas to children.

If the children are pilfering your purse examine your attitude toward it.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE VOICE OF AGE

When I was twenty-one or two
With forty years of life before me,
Tomorrow's skies loomed clear and blue
I thought they never could turn stormy
So many things there were to know,
So many places worth the seeing,
And as I frolicked to and fro
How glorious seemed the gift of being!

And yet at rash Adventure's beck
To caution's voice an utter stranger,
I daily risked my youthful neck
Without an idea of the dangers.
To swim up dizzy mountain heights,
To swim across torrential rivers
Then filled my soul with wild delights
Today I think of them with shivers.

I must have known, through all the years
I played the headlong peril scouter
And took no craven heed of fears
That Death was just around the corner,
But on I rushed, to seek romance,
For life seemed long and joy was fleeting
And never counted on the chance
Of some dread, unexpected meeting.

Today the skies are not so blue,
The span of years that I can measure
Will swiftly pass, for they are few
And promise but a trifling pleasure.
Though life has less to offer me
Than in the days of youthful ardor
When I was reckless, wild and free,
I'm clinging to it all the harder!

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE WOLF

Since the dawn of history a wolf has been raging among the human race.

His path is marked with failures, deaths and agony.
The name of this wolf is Alcohol.

When the United States banished it officially it ought to have received the encomiums of the whole world.

But just as slavery was entrenched in age-old aristocracy and custom, so the liquor traffic has been so interwoven into our habits and literature that the effort to expel it has been greeted, in many cases, with cries of derision.

President Coolidge said the other day: "Constantly to portray the failures and the delinquents is grossly to mislead the public. It breeds an unwarranted spirit of cynicism."

The writer has seen expressions of contempt and arguments against prohibition recently from the pens of most gifted writers. Dudley Field Malone has been active in a campaign in favor of alcoholic beverages. Rupert Hughes, Gertrude Atherton, and many other distinguished writers have lent their names to the effort to discredit prohibition.

They all seem to think that conditions are worse now than they were before the abolition of the saloon.

Bootleg liquor, the hidden brother of the liquor traffic, has done much to discredit prohibition.

It seems strange for a number of people to say that the efforts of law breakers are so successful that law cannot be enforced.

Is the movement to suppress alcohol to fail because a worse form of alcohol is involved?

The law is broken as all laws are broken. We have had laws against murder and theft for lo these thousands of years and people still commit these crimes.

It is manifestly one thing to abolish a crime and another thing to stigmatize it as illegal. Because an evil cannot be suppressed is no reason for society to endorse that evil.

Some seem to think we would do better to have legalized liquor traffic and regulate it. The trouble is that it never was regulated and never can be regulated. It is essentially a law breaker. It fundamentally makes profits outweigh human sufferings.

Those who have felt the sharp fangs of the wolf and the indirect misery caused by it wonder how its ravages can be defended.

Just as there is no curse, with the possible exception of war, so great as the legalized selling of alcohol, so the gesture of the United States in placing itself squarely against it is the greatest moral gesture ever made by a self-governing nation.

The law was not put upon us by some outside tyrant, but was the free choice of a free people, and, if we mistake not, the moral sense of this people will stand against all efforts to bring their deliberate decision to discredit.

THE PROFIT OF PROPHECY

There is nothing quite so profitable as a good prophet.

If we could forecast with measurable accuracy the direction in which the affairs of our Western civilization are likely to move during the next fifty years, we could build our business and conduct our careers with greater assurance of private profit and public service.

I am not foolishly enough to try to play soothsayer to Western civilization, but one may safely do the simpler thing of listing the major prophecies that are being made regarding our civilization.

First, there are those who think that our Western civilization will commit suicide by plunging into another World War within a generation—either a world conflict of nationalities or a world conflict of races.

Second, there are those who think that our Western civilization, in the continued absence of creative statesmanship, will enter a new Dark Age, a period in which civilized values will go into a decline and the race be thrust back into the precarious existence of our primitive ancestors—minus the challenge of difficult days.

Third, there are those who think that our Western civilization will enter a period of unbridled frivolity, a period of spiritual let down, relaxation and disillusionment, that we shall paint our noses for the carnival, and give up the difficult enterprise of perfecting ourselves and our social order.

Fourth, there are those who think that our Western civilization will enter a new Renaissance, a period in which we shall gather up all the creative results that have been unearthed by pioneers in the natural and social sciences and harness them for the tasks of social creation and social control; and this dream is clung to even by those who have yet to see any authentic signs of a leadership that might light the fires of such a Renaissance.

Fifth, there are those who think that our Western civilization will shortly find that the triumphs of the technical age have freed its energies for the development of its spiritual life, that technical progress has reached a point at which nothing in the field of invention or discovery longer surprises us, that since anything new seems possible the thrill of adventure has gone from our material efforts and explorations and will naturally turn to the exploration and enrichment of the subtler social and spiritual aspects of our civilization.

If my life depended upon my guess, I should join the fifth group of forecasters.

Robbing One's Own Self By Deeds After Death

San Bernardino Sun

In the will of Rodman Wanamaker was a provision of $2,000,000 for establishment of a trade and mechanical school for teaching trades to young men. The will was executed five years ago. Presumably the Wanamaker estate could have spared that sum for such a purpose then as well as now. Why did Wanamaker wait five years before establishing such a school?

As a business man he must have realized that he could secure the sort of school he desired more certainly if he gave his personal attention to its founding and organization than if he left it to others to do after he was gone.

It seems to be an almost universal trait in human nature to make provision for the doing of good things after they die rather than while they are here to do them in person. That is why we see so many bequests to charity, to poor relatives, to education, to religion, etc. in wills by people who did very little of those things while in the flesh. Wanamaker however, is not in this class, since he did a great deal of work for the benefit of mankind while still alive. Why he did not establish this school and assure its character as well as derive the very large personal satisfaction such things give to those who do them, is the mystery.

Carnegie, Rockefeller and many others have set the example of personal disposal of their fortunes before death. They have doubtless had a joy out of it that is denied the one who makes his benefactions in his will only. Also their purposes have been more fully attained than is possible the other way. To the giver the joy of giving and of witnessing the blessing of the gift is far greater than mere contemplation of it as something to occur after his death. One who delays his benefactions robs himself of one of the greatest joys of life. Ministering to ourselves may give us pleasure of a sort, but it is what we do for others that gives us real joy and peace of soul.

Kingdom of Kindness

Palo Alto Times

The Kingdom of Kindness will never be complete until man universally admits the dumb creation as well as his fellow man to enjoy the rights proclaimed in the Golden Rule. Indeed, considering the comparative helplessness of the dumb creatures to fend for themselves when pitted against the more resourceful, though not always thoughtful human being, the animals should have special claim on our gentler instincts.

Authority, power, dominion imply a vested obligation of protection. And so if man is to exercise his God-given "dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing upon the earth," then let him not pervert his authority to make miserable the lot of his subject creatures, but rather let him exercise it for their greater contentment.

If we find the bird or the beast in wild life, we find it in its own sanctuary where it has native rights. If it is the domesticated or captive bird or beast that is left at our mercy, the creature has been made domestic or captive, and thereby less fit to protect itself, not by its own choice but by the decree of man and against its own will, and therefore its claim for kind treatment is all the greater.

In proclaiming its annual Be-Kind-to-Animals Week (April 16-21) the American Humane Education Society of Boston turns the attention of the people onto the subject of the helpless creation in the hope that the thoughts aroused thereby will become translated into deeds and habits for advancing the happiness of everything that lives.
